Van Fleet To Fight For Seoul

Allied Artillery Lays Curtain Around Capital

TOKYO, April 30—(AP)—Allied artillery laid an explosive curtain of fire before Seoul today in the path of a gathering Red army intent on seizing the old South Korean capital as a May day prize.

United Nations forces arrayed before the war-shattered city fired 45,709 rounds of artillery Sunday.

The booming echo of massed artillery implemented the announcement of Lt. Gen. James A Van Fleet, Allied ground commander, that Seoul would be defended.

Spot Red Vehicles

Chinese Communists poured down from the north for a mass assault. Airmen spotted 3,365 Red vehicles moving along the Western front. Twenty thousand Communists were reported gathered as shock troops for the assault.

Only probing attacks were reported in the early hours Monday.

On Sunday Van Fleet announced his bold decision to defend Seoul. He plans a defense north of the city, not house-to-house street fighting.

General MacArthur and Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway had made no attempt to hold the city against the Chinese offensive earlier in the year. They said it was of no military importance.

But Van Fleet said Seoul has prestige as Korea's historic capital. He described the Seoul area and the line of the Han River which flows south of the city as "vital and strategic."

U.N. forces, he said, "welcome the opportunity to destroy the Communist army north of the Han."

AP General Executive Frank H. King reported after Van Fleet's press conference that "United Nations forces will not be sacrificed unnecessarily" to hold Seoul.

One of Van Fleet's corps commanders said the final decision on whether his men hold the Han River "depends on what is thrown at us."

That comment came from Maj. Gen. William M. Hoge of the Ninth Corps, who said:

"We're in good shape with what we have, but could use more troops."

70,000 Red Casualties

The Reds have plenty of reserves, despite 70,000 casualties suffered in their seven-day-old offensive.

The Red radio at Pyongyang reported Sunday midnight Communists were only seven and a half miles from Seoul.

Heavily censored field reports indicated they were much closer Monday. Censors blue-penciled all mileages.

Artillery and warplanes hammered the Reds.

King watched them in a flight over Red lines Monday afternoon. He reproted:

"White phosphorous shell bursts from Allied guns dotted the whole tumbled mountainous country

Vogeler On Way Back With Family

Leaves Vienna By Plane for Germany Enroute to U.S.

VIENNA, AUSTRIA, April 30—(AP)—Robert A. Vogeler and his family left Vienna by plane today for the United States.

The 39-year-old American businessman, released last Saturday after 17 months in a Communist jail in Hungary, was taken to the airport with his family by Ambassador Walter J. Donnelly, U. S. high commissioner in Austria.

With his handsome Belgian-born wife Lucille, her sister Pia, and the Vogelers' two sons, Bobby, 11, and Billy, 9, Vogeler boarded a Pan American Airways plane at Tulln airport, in the Soviet occupied zone of Austria.

The plane took off at 3 p.m. (9 a.m., E.S.T.). The first stop was Frankfurt, Germany.

Delivers "Message"

Vogeler mustered his shattered strength to deliver what he called "a message" to the American people yesterday before a television camera and microphone. He broke down once but insisted on continuing.

"I am convinced," he said, "that my incident (arrest by Hungarian Communists as a spy and saboteur) is just one of a series of planned attacks on democracy.

"The American people must be made aware of what can happen. I feel that every individual American should realize that what happened to me can happen to them if we don't all band together to destroy these enemies of individual freedom."

Vogeler was so weak and nervous after that effort that he was forbidden to talk by telephone last night with his father, Willy R. Vogeler, in New York. His wife substituted for him on the telephone while he was put to bed with sedatives.

Today, however, after "a good night's sleep," he was reported improved.

"He is beginning to collect his

More Than 60.5 Billion Requested

Kremlin Has World On Brink of General War, Truman Says

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—President Truman today sent Congress a $60,679,414,690 defense budget and said Russia's rulers have pushed the world "to the brink of a general war."

The huge requested appropriation is for the United States' own military costs and to help arm its Allies.

The message broke down in more detail the military estimates included in Mr. Truman's general budget, sent to Congress in January, for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

In a letter to House speaker Rayburn, accompanying today's estimates, Mr. Truman said:

"If the Soviet Union chooses to unleash a general war, the free world must be in a position to stop the attack and strike back decisively and at once at the seats of Soviet power.

"Best Path To Peace"

"We believe that the best path to peace is through building combined defenses for the free world sufficiently powerful to insure disaster for the aggressors if they launch a new world war."

The over-all figure was broken down into these sub-totals:

▶ $1,424,639,700 to pay for various projects Congress already has authorized.

▶ $56,179,414,690 of "new obligational authority"—meaning for direct expenditures and for letting of contracts for future payment.

▶ $4,500,000,000 to cover needs "for a large military public works program to be recommended soon for authorization."

Mr. Truman noted that the amount of actual spending proposed for the next 13 months was not changed much from his January estimates. (Actual spending from the treasury may lag far behind appropriations because it takes several years to fill some military contracts.)

Mr. Truman said:

"The revised estimate of expenditure for 1951 (the fiscal year ending next June 30) is 194 billion dollars, compared to 20 billion carried in the January budget. For fiscal year 1952, expenditures are estimated at 30.5 billion dollars compared to 40 billions carried in the January Budget."

The $60,679,414,690 asked compares with the $47,590,608,884 which has been enacted or recommended for the current fiscal year.

Sketches Plans Broadly

Sketching broadly the planned use of the money, Mr. Truman said:

"For the Army, these funds will equip and maintain 18 divisions plus separate combat and supporting units. The Navy, under these recommendations, will maintain an active fleet of 1,161 ships. The Marine Corps will maintain 2 1/3 divisions and other supporting units. The Air Force will continue to build toward 95 wings."

Of the new funds, he said, about $34,700,000,000 will be used to buy heavy equipment such as ships, planes, tanks, artillery,

Hoover Says RFC Should Be Abolished

Original Purpose Lost, He Testifies At Senate Hearing

WASHINGTON April 30—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover said today the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC) should be liquidated, largely because its original purpose has become "submerged in support of risky business."

He said "favoritism and corruploans in the small business field in its operation.

Hoover, who recently urged that the RFC be abolished, appeared before the Senate banking committee to tell the reasons behind his view.

In a statement prepared for the committee he said:

"I believe that the RFC should be liquidated. xxxx

"I believe some facilities for loans in the small business field should be continued under other organizations."

Small business loans, the former president said, should be taken over by the Federal Reserve banks.

Hoover is one of a number of witnesses called by the committee which is trying to decide what to do about the RFC.

The RFC was created by Congress on Jan. 22, 1932, during Hoover's administration, "to provide emergency financing facilities for financial institutions, to aid in financing agriculture, commerce and industry."

Too Much Scope

Requirements governing RFC's operations have been relaxed since that time, the former president's statement pointed out.

"As a result," he said, "the institution now undertakes to finance, by so-called loans, almost anything, domestic and sometimes even foreign, on most any terms in places.

"In my view, when it enters the non-emergency area of loans in excess of $100,000, its social and economic purpose becomes submerged in support of risky business and in bailing out creditors on a large scale.

"It would appear from the Fulbright hearings that the operation of the RFC for the past four or five years really shows a great loss. I see no reason why the taxpayers' money should be used to subsidize larger peacetime business.

"This area of loans in excess of $100,000 is where the great dangers to the nation have occurred. That loans of this character have led to favoritism and corruption has been demonstrated by the exposures of the Fulbright committee. Corruption in government is far worse in effect than corruption in private business. Corrup-

Few people would suspect that the snappy cheer leaders of Harding High School have to practice in the halls of the school because there is no place else for them to rehearse their intricate routines.

Their plight is no worse than that of other school activities such as athletics, dramatics and journalism. ## Fire Destroys Bucyrus Plant

A. and J. Pattern Works Leveled

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 30—The A. and J. Pattern Works at 500 Norton Way, Bucyrus, was destroyed by fire shortly after 4 p.m. Saturday. Firemen battled the blaze five hours.

The 70x120 foot frame two-story structure burned to the ground, and most of the machinery was destroyed.

All patterns were saved, however, together with a small part of the machinery.

William F. Maden, fire chief, said today amount of loss had not yet been determined. A high wind Saturday hampered the fire fighters.

The business, which employed six men, was owned by Gene Auld and Richard Jennings, both former residents of Marion.

It is believed that sparks from a fire during the burning of trash back of the building caused the blaze.

Husband Held In Slaying

COLUMBUS, April 30—(AP)—The husband of Mrs. Ruth K. Alter, 31-year-old slain mother, was arrested yesterday afternoon while he was attending graveside funeral services for her. No charges were filed.

Sheriff Ralph J. Paul arrested Russell Alter, a railroad fireman and special deputy sheriff, at a cemetery at Roseville, O. Paul said he would question Alter today.

The sheriff took Alter into custody immediately after the services and talked with him for about 40 minutes before leaving for Columbus.

Gets Superior Rating

Harding High Orchestra Wins Top State Honors

The Harding High School orchestra, under the direction of Homer Huffman, instrumental music supervisor in the city schools, received a superior rating in the Class A state finals of the Ohio High School auditions held Saturday at Capital University in Columbus. Superior ratings are the highest given in the music contests.

By receving a superior rating in a district contest held April 7 at Hopewell-Loudon High School in Bascom, O., the orchestra was eligible to participate in the state event. The auditions are sponsored each year by the Ohio Music Education Association.

This was the first time since the start of World War II that the Marion orchestra had been entered for the auditions.

Another School High

The Harding orchestra, entered in Class A-1, which includes schools with over 1,200 students in the four upper grades of school, was one of four entered in that group and was one of two which received the superior rating. The other one receiving the superior rating was the orchestra from East Cleveland Shaw High School.

The 49-piece Harding orchestra played for the auditions the required number, "Prelude and Fugue" by Handel, the string orchestra selection was "Aria" by Tenaglia, and the group's selected composition was "Egmont," an overture by Beethoven.

Judges for the day complimented highly the string group part of the Harding orchestra, rating them above average for that size group.

The judges were Prof. Eugene Weigel, head of the music department at Ohio State University and a former director of the uni-

Removal Order Against Metzes OK'd by Board

Attorneys for Ousted Home Officials Preparing Answer

Orders of permanent removal against Mr. and Mrs. Mac D. Metz, suspended superintendent and matron, respectively, of the Marion County Children's Home, were approved Saturday afternoon at a meeting of the County Child Welfare Board.

The orders were prepared by the Guthery, Harmon and Conkle law firm, attorneys for the board, and have been served on Russell M. Wilhelm, attorney for Mr. and Mrs. Metz. Robert A. Kelly also is counsel for the Metzes.

The order contains specifications of malfeasance and incompetency in office, Walter D. Moore, board president, reported today.

The specific charges will not be released for publication until they are filed with the Civil Service Commission Mr. Moore said.

To File Answer

Mr. and Mrs. Metz will be allowed until May 3 to file answers. The orders of removal along with the answers will be filed with the state Civil Service Commission.

Mr. Wilhelm and Mr. Kelly are preparing an answer and will file it before the May 3 deadline, Mr. Wilhelm said today.

Mr. and Mrs. Metz were suspended for a 30-day period at a meeting of the board April 5. At that time, the board approved the suspensions by a 3-2 vote and followed up with the permanent removal proceedings.

The orders were served on Mr. Wilhelm because Mr. and Mrs. Metz are visiting their son and daughter-in-law in Pittsburgh.

Their discharge will become effective when the orders of removal and answers are filed with the Civil Service Commission, which will then conduct a hearing for reinstatement if the Metzes desire.

2 Marion Railroaders Injured

Three Guardsmen Killed When Train Hits Tank

An Ohio National Guard tank lumbered into the path of a speeding Erie passenger train in Barberton yesterday and three of the tank's five-man crew were killed. Seven other persons were injured, one seriously, The Associated Press reported.

Two of the injured were Marion men. They were Jay F. Mason, 61, of 819 Uncapher avenue, engineer, and Francis Korte, 46, of 866 Woodrow avenue, fireman of the train.

They were the only Kent Division men on the train which was being operated by a Mahoning Division crew, the division superintendent's office in Marion reported.

Engineer Mason was treated for shock and burns on the left arm while Fireman Korte was treated for a back injury. Both were released after being treated at Barberton Hospital.

Two Leap From Tank

Earl Lybarger, who lives near the crossing in Barberton, saw two men leap from the 33-ton Sherman tank, "one to the right and one to the left," before the six-car flyer struck.

Dead were Ronald Peterman, 19, Barberton; William Livingston, 22, Doylestown; and Dale Cox, 27, Akron. All were members of the ONG's 137th Medium Tank Battalion, 37th Infantry Division which had been on maneuvers at nearby Portage Lakes.

One of the two Guardsmen who jumped from the tank, Carl Michols, 29, of Akron, was reported in fair condition today in Citizen's Hospital in Barberton. The other, Don Jamieson, 24, of Rittman, O., was unhurt.

Parts of the tank were strewn 1,000 feet along the tracks. The train bounced off the track and tilted at a precarious angle.

About 800 feet from the crossing the railroad tracks make a sharp bend.

Too Late To Stop

The engineer of the train, Mr. Mason, said "I was coming around the curve and saw the tank pulling onto the tracks. But it was too late."

"It sounded like the whole end of Barberton was blowing up when the train hit the tank," said Lybarger who was watching from his front porch. "My wife fainted when she saw that the engine would not miss the tank."

Another section of the streamliner Lake Cities No. 6 was made up at Kent to finish the Chicago to New York run for the train's 200 passengers.

Others treated for minor injuries at the hospital here were:

Baggageman Michael Korp, 49, New York City: Donnie L. Jackson, 35, of Chicago, a waiter: Mrs. Estella Hughley, 59, of Ravenna; and Bernard McElroy, 72, of Highland, Ind.

10 Killed In Runaway Bus Crash

Driver Dead, 46 Injured in Dash Down Steep Hill

WEIRTON, W. Va., April 30—(AP)—A runaway bus pitched down a mile-long hill yesterday and crashed into a concrete wall, taking the lives of 10 persons.

Just before the horrifying smashup, the driver, George Kraina, 35, cried to his church-bound passengers:

"Hang on everybody! We're going to crash!"

Those were his last words. He was dead when pulled from the twisted wreckage of the bus.

Some of the nine passengers were killed outright. Others died a short time afterward. Of the 65 persons aboard, 46 were injured. At least three, including a child, were reported in critical condition.

Police said there were no eyewitnesses and no indication of how fast the bus was running but one of the uninjured passengers, 14-year-old George Stunda said:

Going 60

"We must have been going 60 before we hit that wall."

Patrolman Joe Rodak, who with Patrolman Frank Ticich, was the first to reach the scene in the quiet residential neighborhood, said:

"It was like a gruesome jigsaw puzzle.

"Most of the children and adults were piled up in front of the bus.

"Bodies were all tangled together in distorted positions.

"Others were pinned in the wreckage. There was blood on everybody."

Most of the passengers were enroute from their homes in suburban Weirton Heights to downtown Weirton where they were to attend mass at St. Paul's Catholic Church.

A priest was among the first at the scene. He went among the passengers to administer the last rites.

"The old people were wonderful," said Patrolman Rodak. "They

Sgt 1/c Douglas E. Elkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Elkins of 674 Sugar street, is one of 81 Ohioans among the first group of combat veterans to leave Korea under the Army's rotation plan, The Associated Press reported today.

A veteran of three years' service with the Army, Sgt. Elkins has been in Korean combat for 10 months. He is a member of Co. C of the 24th Infantry Division. He sailed from Japan April 22 aboard the U.S.S. General Leroy Eltinge. The ship is scheduled to dock Saturday at Seattle, Wash.

Sgt Elkins enlisted in the Army in July, 1948. Prior to his enlistment he was employed by the Pollak Steel Co.

3 Saved 3 Hours After Boat Upsets On Indian Lake

RUSSELLS POINT, O., April 30—(AP)—A Lima couple and their eight-year-old grandson clung to a capsized boat in Indian Lake for nearly three hours before they were rescued Saturday night.

The rescue was described today by the Ohio highway patrol, whose patrolmen removed Mr. and Mrs. William A. Van Sky and Terry Voorhees, 8, from the water.

The craft, powered by an outboard motor, overturned in a storm about 10 p.m. It remained afloat. The adults placed the youngster on the boat while they, treading water clung to the side.

Someone heard their yells and the highway patrolmen came out in another boat about 12:50 a.m. and rescued them.

The three, suffering from exposure, were removed to St. Rita's Hospital in Lima.

Modern Convenience of Gas Ranges Shown Here

Modern, streamlined styling and construction give today's gas ranges an appearance and utility that makes them universally acceptable in smart kitchens but each make and model has special features all its own, according to merchants planning the 1951 Spring Style Show of New Gas Ranges here.

They point out that each homemaker uses one or more of three basic areas in preparing meals—the top of the range, the oven or the broiler. These areas are arranged differently in each model. By studying the variations in these arrangements, each homemaker can find a specific model which suits her own cooking habit and her favorite cooking methods.

The top of the range area, for example, can be varied in several different ways. Burners can be arranged in divided, staggered or clustered style. Each arrangement has special advantages. Some ranges have a griddle built in with the top burners.

The burners in each range vary, but all offer a flexible, easily-controlled amount of heat. Extra convenience features in almost all ranges are "giant burners" and "simmer burners". The "giant burner" is especially good for large utensils and extra-quick cooking.

The "simmer burner" provides the kind of heat housewives use most often in cooking. It keeps the flame just high enough to maintain a simmering temperature. This is important in cooking vegetables and stews, braising meat and in preparing skillet meals or other foods that need to be cooked for a long time.

Modern gas ranges also vary in their oven arrangements. They may be double or single-oven models. They preheat more rapidly, use less gas and can maintain lower temperatures than older models because of better insulation and oven burner controls.

Most models have slides which prevent oven racks from tipping and jamming. Automatic oven lighting is available. In double-oven models, the housewife may do slow and quick baking at the same time. Or she can bake and broil at the same time. Oven windows and lights aid in checking the progress of foods during cooking.

Automatic controls on time and temperature can do the entire job of cooking, once the meal is placed in the oven. This cooking may be started and stopped while the housewife is away from home.

Smokeless broiling is a special feature of gas ranges. The broiler pans are designed to drain grease from the heat zone. Any vapors which do occur are burned off by the flame. There are 'high-broiler" styles available. The broiler's at the same level as the oven in those models.

In 1859, reported The American Gazette, one hundred American families used gas for cooking. Today 27,000,000 American homemakers cook with gas.

---

If you find that cakes burn on the bottom, or are lopsided, or that pies have soggy bottoms, don't blame it on your gas oven. Any of several factors may contribute to baking failures such as overcrowding, poorly-made utensils, or it's quite possible that your gas range is not standing level on your kitchen floor. Study the Buyer's Guide supplied with each gas range to make sure you are using your oven correctly. If there is still some doubt in your mind as to how you can get the best baking results, phone Betty Newton at The Gas Co. office. She will be glad to help you solve your baking problems.

Simmering is an excellent cooking method used by good cooks to retain food values. Turn the gas low to simmer position to keep soups, stews, vegetables and fruits gently cooking.

---

To clean a gas range in which the oven and broiler are heavily spattered with grease, put a shallow dish filled with ammonia in each compartment, close the doors and leave for a while—as long as 24 hours if you wish. The ammonia fumes help loosen the grease from the porcelain and makes thorough cleaning that much easier.

---

An 1890 cook book advised cooks to drop water on the oven bottom. If the water hissed, the oven was supposed to be hot enough for baking. Today the thermostat on modern automatic gas ranges keeps baking temperatures at exactly the degree the homemaker wants.

---

After every dishwashing, when a cloth and warm soapy water is readily available, wipe off the top of your gas range and around the burner sections. By the time the dishes are done, the porcelain has cooled off. If the porcelain is still hot, however, wait for it to cool, otherwise the finish may crack or craze.

---

The most reliable buyer's guide to gas appliances for the home is the blue Seal of Approval of the American Gas Association's Laboratories. Look for it, ask for it, when you're buying a new gas range.

---

The removable drip trays underneath the top burners of your gas range are as easily cleaned as a dish. Just wipe with warm soapy water, dry thoroughly on bottom and top before replacing.

---

Housewives who want leisure, yet must serve tasty meals on time, have learned to plan entire oven meals cooked by clock control. All they do is set the clock which automatically lights the oven burner at the time the meal should start cooking. Then the clock automatically controls turning off the gas when the meal is done. Since the clock can be set hours ahead of time, the cook can walk out of the kitchen and let this mechanical servant do her cooking for her.

---

All models of gas ranges approved by the American Gas Association's Laboratories are equipped with removable oven bottoms. This is one of the 600-odd requirements for gas ranges bearing the Association's blue Seal of Approval.

Marion Stores Open Spring Style Show Of New Gas Ranges

Marion merchants will open their 1951 Spring Style Show of New Gas Ranges here this week. The improved performance and greater conveniences of modern, automatic gas ranges will be highlighted during the showing.

"It's smart to cook with an automatic gas range," dealers are saying in their theme.

All merchants have arranged displays, demonstrations and other special events to present a complete and dramatic showing of the advantages of modern gas cooking, dealers point out. Each dealer will give special emphasis to the features of the individual range lines he handles.

This will give every homemaker now searching for modern cooking equipment a chance to shop with certainty that she will find a new gas range that is just right for her individual cooking needs, dealers say.

To meet the varying requirements of prospective range buyers here, dealers are offering an outstanding selection of new gas ranges during the Style Show.

With "all sizes, makes and models" in gas ranges on display, shoppers will find this is the best time to start their search for a gas range tailored to their own cooking "likes and dislikes," dealers' spokesmen point out.

Construction features and cooking arrangements vary with individual brands, but all 1951 gas range models show higher styling and are much easier to use.

In appearance they are streamlined to modern style standards. All lines are built in present-day detail that will keep them in style through long years of use.

Among range features getting special attention in dealers' stores will be completely automatic lighting, automatic clock controls, smokeless and easy-to-clean broilers, simmer burners and high-speed, close-temperature-controlled ovens.

With present living costs becoming more and more a matter of concern to all homemakers, merchants here are citing the low cost of gas cooking during the Spring Style Show. They are emphasizing savings in the original purchase, installation, operation and maintenance of modern gas ranges.

Many homes have laundry-utility rooms in the basement and this is an excellent spot for an extra gas range. The burners are right there when starch has to be made and the oven and broiler make excellent auxiliary cooking units.

To save gas, place utensils over burners before lighting the gas. Then turn the gas off before removing the pan from the burner.

Why Shouldn't This Be Discussed . . . ?

Before investing several hundred dollars, any family is apt to have some discussion over the value to be received for their money. And why shouldn't that be so whether the money is to be spent for something of daily use—or for funeral service?

The management of the Hughes Funeral Home believes that Marion families are entitled to full information about funeral service and its cost. To that end we invite inspection of our facilities and a frank discussion of cost.

We believe this leads to better understanding and to service that satisfies. It also assures that cost will be something planned—not rushed into under the stress of grief.

Eight Traffic Mishaps Listed; Pedestrian Hit

Police Report Only One Injury Over Weekend

Police today reported eight traffic accidents, one in which a 63-year-old pedestrian was injured.

Clarence Field, 63, of the Y.M.C.A. was injured when he was struck by a car driven by Jack Eugene Orr, 18, of 522 Lee street. The accident occurred at North State and East Center street at 8:30 p.m. yesterday. Mr. Field was crossing North State street and was struck as the Orr car was turning from Center street. He suffered abrasions and bruises and was taken to the Marion City Hospital by police, treated and released.

At 7:25 a.m. yesterday cars driven by Donald B. Sullivan, 29, of 887 North State street and Ollie Shanks, 18, of 1028 West Center street collided at Center and Main streets. Both cars were badly damaged.

Cars Collide

Minor damage was reported when cars driven by Ralph E. Geary, 26, of Mansfield and John E. Lewis, 34, of Bedford, O., collided at Center and Main streets at 5:07 p.m. Saturday.

A hole in the street at Bellefontaine avenue and Barks street resulted in damage to a car driven by George C. Vassel, 22, of 298 North Main street so severe that it could not be driven, Vassel told police. The accident occurred at 12:30 p.m. Sunday. Police said the hole in the street measured four inches by 5 inches and was four and one-half inches deep.

A car driven by Roy F. Gilbert, 45, of 483 Decatur street, backing into an alley near South Main street, collided with a car driven by Philip V. Corwin, 24, of 433 North State street at 3:53 p.m. Saturday.

Pushed Car Struck

insisted we take out the youngsters first."

In addition to the driver, the dead are: Diana Jackson, 10; Mrs. Florence Herkle, 40; Mrs. Elsie Ulizio, 53; Mrs. Josephine Kulow, 50; Peter Balt, 60; Mrs. Angeline Welshans, 26; Alfa Lawson Smith, 13; Valentino Grossi, 58; Patsy Rock, 6; all are from Weirton Heights.

Patrolman Ticich paid high praise to the driver, saying he almost succeeded in keeping the bus from smashing into the concrete wall at the bottom of the hill.

Picked Up Speed

This is what happened, Ticich declared:

The bus was proceeding normally near the top of the hill when it suddenly picked up speed. Kraina was unable to stop on the windy hill—so steep that most autos ascend in second gear.

"We don't know yet why the driver could not stop," Ticich continued. "There are reports, which we are unable to verify that the driver tried to ditch the bus in a slag dump on the side of the road but was prevented by an oncoming auto."

The bus ran about three-quarters of a mile before it came to the bottom of the hill. Ticich said Kraina knew he could not negotiate a sharp left hand turn. He chose to swing to the right and drive onto a residential street.

Just as he turned, the left front end of the bus smashed into the retaining wall.

"A few more inches, just a few more inches, would have made all the difference in the world," Ticich declared.

The orders were accepted unanimously by the five-member board Saturday afternoon, Mr. Moore said. Other board members are E. E. Banning, Dr. Frederick Rea, Mrs. E. Paul Bachman and Walter Mautz. The latter two are new members appointed to succeed John Stafford and Mrs. Troy McClure, who resigned after the ouster move was launched. They had opposed the move.

Four in County

Highway Projects For Marion, Area Listed

Four highways in Marion County are included in a list of summer projects announced today by T. J. Kauer, state highway director.

The roads to be repaired are among those severely damaged by frost and snow during the past winter. Kauer said roads damaged by freezing would get first call on the money available.

A total of $56,000,000 will be spent on Ohio's highways this year, he said, with $42,000,000 being spent on federal aid projects. Repair of frost damage will amount to about $8,000,000 and an additional $6,000,000 will be spent for regular resurfacing and maintenance projects.

The Marion County highways to be repaired are: Route 37 from Route 30 to the Wyandot County line 3.35 miles, surface treatment; Route 37 from LaRue to the Union County line, 5.35 miles surface treatment; Route 95 from LaRue to New Bloomington, 4.18 miles, resurface; and Route 746 from the Morrow County line to Route 95, 6.48 miles, surface treatment.

The Route 67 project calls for grading and drainof the Hardin County line and for construction of a bridge and two-lane pavement relocation.

Hint Giant Expose In Crime Report

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—Hints of possibly sensational accusations are piling up in advance of the scheduled release tomorrow of the Senate crime committee's report on its nationwide investigation of racketeering.

Senator Tobey (R-NH) said yesterday he expects "several prominent men in New York" to be indicted as a result of the committee's revelations. "I hope and pray so, for they're guilty as hell," he added

And the committee's chief counsel, Rudolph Halley, indicated the report may carry some sharp criticism of former New Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Tobey and other committee members appeared on a television program (N.B.C.) which also produced the news that a printer's proof of the forthcoming report has been stolen.

This disclosure, by Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn), brought a bitter retort from Robert S. Allen, Washington newspaper correspondent. Allen, author of a series of stories based on the committee report, said he told Kefauver after the broadcast that "anybody who made that statement is a liar."

practical for "skull practice" sessions to be held there.

Aside from musical organizations, Harding High has 12 large extra-curricular activities groups. Their meetings are held during the home room period, the first period of the day. Only three rooms are available for meetings so some of them must be held in the corridors and on staircases. Candidates for athletic teams are interviewed in the halls because of the same space shortage for such purposes.

Faculty conferences with students are held to a minimum because there is simply no place for them to be held.

The new high school which will be built if the $2,900,000 bond issue is passed at the polls May 8 will have adequate rooms to permit these activities to be carried on in a matter which will be beneficial to the entire high school student body.

Waldo Man Hurt In Auto Accident

Robert L. Sims of Waldo is in Marion City Hospital today for treatment of pelvis bone fractures suffered in an auto accident last Thursday night.

Sims was brought to the Marion Clinic on South Main street Saturday morning. He was examined and immediately taken to the Marion City Hospital for further treatment. He is in "fair" condition today. He suffered multiple fractures of the pelvis bone.

State highway patrolmen said the accident occurred three miles south of Marion on Route 23. The car in which Sims was riding struck a tree. It was driven by R. E. Buckingham of Waldo and was demolished, patrolmen said.

NEW PREMIER TAKES OVER

TEHRAN, IRAN, April 30—(AP)—F. Mohammed Mossadegh, the man who has vowed to drive all foreign influence out of Iran and nationalize the country's vast oil wealth, moved into the office of premier today and urged this nervous country to remain calm during Communist-sparked May Day demonstrations.

Budget

trucks, ammunition, guided missiles, and electronics. A total of 14.5 billion will be used to buy planes.

The president asserted:

"The funds I am today recommending will carry forward the rapid buildup in military strength upon which our nation embarked when the aggression in Korea showed that the Soviet rulers were willing to push the world to the brink of a general war to get what they want.

"We are building our military strength in the way best calculated to meet the military threat that confronts us.

"The major element in this threat is the military strength and military production of the Soviet Union. The armed forces of the Soviet Union today far exceed any reasonable defense requirements. Its economy is harnessed to war production."

Part of Total

Mr. Truman said the expansion in defense spending is part of a total program "to enable us and other free nations to save the world from another and more frightful global war," he added:

"It is also a program to enable us, if general war should be thrust upon us, to halt the enemy's forces and strike back decisively at the center of the enemy's power.

"We are now meeting the savage thrust of Communist aggression in Korea. Our fighting men and those of our Allies are today locked in battle with the armed forces of Soviet satellites. Our men are being supplied with the best in modren military equipment, supplies and ammunition.

"They are inflicting terrible punishment on the Communist armies. They have checked the plans of the Kremlin to extend Communist control to other parts of Asia. They won time for the free nations to prepare their defenses against the world-wide Soviet plan of world domination.

"The aggression in Korea is only part of the Kremlin's strategy to achieve world domination. The Soviet Union is prepared to use armed force elsewhere in the world, and is using many other methods than military force to gain its end."

20 Percent of Output

Mr. Truman said the military and security programs would take about 20 percent of the nation's total output by the end of the next fiscal year (June 30, 1952). By comparsion, he said, 45 percent of total output was going to security purposes at the peak of the last war.

He said:

"The level of preparedness which this budget is designed to create is one which is well within our ability to maintain for many years, if necessary."

Blame Gale In Airliner Crash

FT. WAYNE, Ind., April 30—(AP)—Investigators today blamed high winds for the crash and explosion of a United Air Lines passenger plane which took 11 lives Saturday night.

The plane, a DC-3 bound from Cleveland to Chicago, approached Baer Field for a landing just as a violent storm hit the Ft. Wayne area.

When wind gusts up to 85 miles an hour began whipping the field, Neal Rupert, the tower operator, told pilot E. K. Swallow of Minsdale, Ill., to head east to escape the storm.

A few moments later, Rupert said he saw "an orange flash" from the east.

Henry Facks, 62, a farmer who had gone out to see if his buildings were being damaged by the wind, said he saw the plane about 1,000 feet up. As he watched, the plane turned over in the air and plunged into a muddy stubblefield.

"Then there was an awful explosion," Facks said.

All aboard the plane—eight passengers and three crew members, were killed.

Three of the passengers were nurses from Memorial Hospital in South Bend. The nurses, Ann Lehman and Barbara Scheidegger of South Bend and Treve Swithart of Argos, Ind., were returning from a psychopathic clinic at Massillon, O., on their first airline trip.

Other passengers were Dr. H. Clive McAllister, 57, medical director of the Lincoln National Life Insurance Co., Fort Wayne; Maurice J. Oyer, project engineer of the Wayne Pump Co., Fort Wayne; Maurice Mahon, 25, Cleveland FBI agent; Keith Farr, Niaga Falls, N. Y. and Stanley Telecz, Detroit.

Crew members in addition to Capt. Swallow, were first officer H. R. Miller and Stewardess Beverly Ellis, both of Chicago.

Lew Reese To Sell Out Scio Pottery

SCIO, O., April 30—(AP)—Pottery manufacturer L. P. (Lew) Reese, who has shared profits with his employes since 1932, is going to sell his plant.

That, he explains, is so he can divvy up the money with the workers before he dies and inheritance tax eats it up.

The pottery has more than 800 employes and nearly every adult in this little Harrison County village of 1,200 works there.

Reese said he hoped to sell the plant to a Chicago buyer in Pittsburgh Tuesday for about $3,000,000. After that he plans to work out a plan for dividing the money.

If he should own the plant when he dies, Reese said, "the inheritance tax would be about 70 percent. By selling, I'll only have to pay a 25 percent capital gains tax."

Reese said he will require the plant's buyer to continue his labor relations program of sharing earnings with the employes. He also specifies that he be given a 10-year contract as general manager.

Report on Tax Program Due

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—First indications of the depth, direction and impact of the 1951 tax increase program are due from the House Ways and Means Committee this week.

After 12 full weeks of preliminaries, Chairman Doughton (D-N C) has announced that his tax-writing committee is ready to start making decisions on specific proposals, starting at a closed session today.

Before the start of the voting, there was fairly general agreement among committee members that the $10,000,000,000 one-lump increase asked by the administration is not in the cards, unless the international situation blackens suddenly.

Police Report Three Arrests

Police today reported three arrests.

William Everett Fannin, 29, of Bucyrus was arrested on West Center street at 1:28 p.m. yesterday and charged with driving while intoxicated. He pleaded guilty to the charge in Municipal Court today and was fined $100 and costs. His driving rights were also suspended for three years.

Karie Walker of Crestline was arrested on Senate street at 11:27 p.m. for disorderly conduct. She pleaded guilty today in Municipal Court and was fined $15 and costs.

Cecil Gregory, 26, of 374 Quarry street was arrested on East George street and charged with reckless operation of his auto. He pleaded guilty in Municipal Court and was fined $15 and costs.

life again," Williams said. "He is starting to straighten up some of his long neglected business and personal affairs.

"But it has been so long since he was able to make decisions for himself that he has almost lost temporarily the ability to make decisions."

May Be Telecast

(NBC announced that Vogeler's statement probably would be telecast in the United States tonight or tomorrow.)

Although Vogeler presented a good appearance physically, the mental strain of 14 and a half months in solitary confinement since his trial showed plainly.

He gave the appearance of a man with a haunting memory and a secret he wished to tell but could not.

Vogeler told newsmen shortly after his release Saturday that both physical and mental pressure were used to obtain his confession before he was tried by a People's court in Budapest. He acknowledged that there was "some truth" in his testimony but said it contained many technical inaccuracies.

MacArthurs Leave N. Y. For Tennessee

General's Lady Shows Murfreesboro Her Famous Husband

NEW YORK, April 30—(AP)—Gen. and Mrs Douglas MacArthur left Idlewild Airport at 8:51 a.m. (EST) today for a flying visit to Murfreesboro, Tenn., Mrs. MacArthur's home town.

"This is the 14th anniversary of my wedding," the general said just before he and his wife and their son, Arthur, 13, boarded the big Constellation plane, the Bataan. "It's just like starting a new honeymoon."

The crowd at the airport shouted "happy anniversary."

It was Mrs. MacArthur's first trip home since she and the general were married in the Municipal Building here in 1937 and left for the Philippines the next day.

The plane was scheduled to land about noon at Stewart Air Base near Murfreesboro.

A crowd of approximately 150 persons cheered as the MacArthurs left the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel for the airport.

The general said he felt fine, and pointing to Mrs. MacArthur, told newsmen:

"Fourteen years ago I married that lovely lady. Today I'm taking her home."

Mrs MacArthur's Day of Triumph

MURFREESBORO, Tenn., April 30—(AP) — The general's lady shows off her famous husband, Douglas MacArthur, to the home folks today in a long-delayed homecoming.

It is a day of triumph for the 52-year-old Jean Faircloth MacArthur, who is returning home for the first time since she married in New York 14 years ago today, at 38.

And it is a day of triumph for flag-bedecked, frenzied Murfreesboro. This 13,000 population middle Tennessee city, usually quiet and quaint, hopes to pitch its native daughter the anniversary party of a lifetime.

"Welcome Jean, General, and Arthur," proclaim signs strung everywhere. Pictures of MacArthur are all along the streets. United States and Confederate flags and bunting add to the holiday air.

It is obvious that Murfressboro doesn't plan to take a back seat to anybody on showing a big time to Jean and her family. Local folks expect 100,000 persons to turn out for the five-hour welcome.

A lot of formal ceremony and brass, civilian and military, is on the program that kicks off with arrival of the "Bataan." MacArthur will speak briefly.

But most of the program is geared to suit Jean.

She gets a silver tray for her anniversary and a lifetime membership in the local auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Many old friends are to greet her at a luncheon. And she will go to her old home to be met by several former servants.

The folks aren't forgetting her and the general's 13-year-old son, Arthur, either. He gets a rod and reel, a life membership in the Boy Scouts of America and some Scout paraphernalia.

Submits List

Hoover submitted a list of loans the RFC has made to hotels, distillers, brewers, theaters and bowling alleys.

"Another list could be made of loans to beauty parlors, pool rooms and a snake farm," he added.

"What public interest there can be in operations of these types of business at the taxpayers' risk is difficult to see," the statement said.

Fined $300 For Illegal Liquor Sale

James Beaver of near Green Camp pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquors at an arraignment in Municipal Court this morning. He was fined $300 and costs by Judge W. Dexter Hazen.

Beaver was arrested at 3:30 a.m. Sunday at his home west of Green Camp on Route 739 after a raid by the Marion County sheriff's office. He was charged with selling whisky at his home.

Sheriff LeRoy Retterer led the raid and was accompanied by Deputies Elmer Ullom, Malcolm Severns and Richard Ruth. Beaver was caught selling legal whisky purchased at state liquor stores, Sheriff Retterer said. He was held at the Marion County jail until his arraignment this morning.

Beaver was arrested last May by the sheriff's office on the same charge He was fined $150 and costs at that time.

Acheson Says U. S. Stand Is Successful

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson today claimed successes for the stand this country has taken in Korea and said the best chance of real victory lies in firmly holding to that line.

He explained to the United States Chamber of Commerce that it may be possible there to convince the enemy that "his aggression cannot pay." His claims of successes were in that field.

The fighting in the Far East "may spread despite our efforts to limit it," Acheson said, but added:

"If this happens the responsibility for it will rest squarely on the Kremlin and its agents in Peiping."

The secretary spoke from the same platform where Senator Taft (R-Ohio), an outspoken administration critic, was scheduled to follow him shortly.

His audience had up for consideration a resolution endorsing direct negotiations with Russia for world peace. The proposed policy statement, one of dozens to be voted on at the Chamber's 39th annual meeting here, called for a Soviet-American effort to reach "truly effective solutions" "not mere paper agreements."

Attending the national C. of C. convention from Marion are Henry A. Mickley, president of the local Chamber, and Hugh E. Webster, executive secretary. Also attending is Dr. Frederick T. Merchant, immediate past president of the local group. Dr. Merchant is now a member of the U. S. Medical Corps stationed at Washington, D. C.

Brehm Case Slated To Go to Jury Today

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—Rep. Walter E. Brehm (R-Ohio) may learn today whether a federal court jury believes him innocent or guilty of charges that he unlawfully took campaign donations.

The jury of 10 men and two women is scheduled to begin consideration of Brehm's case after both the government and defense complete final arguments.

Brehm, now serving his fifth straight term in the House, is accused of receiving $1,000 in illegal political contributions from Mrs Emma S. Craven while she worked for him for 11 months in 1948.

In addition, the Ohio Republican is charged with taking a $140 political gift from Mrs. Clara Soliday, 74, in his congressional office in early 1948. Mrs. Soliday was a clerk for Brehm for three years until January 1948.

Dan Geran, son of Mrs. George T. Geran of 551 South Vine street and the late Major Geran, received word Saturday he has passed mental and physical examinations for entrance to the U. S. Military academy at West Point.

Letters from Senator John Bricker and the Department of Defense notified Geran he had passed the exams and was to report to the academy July 3.

An outstanding student at Harding High School, Geran ranks 12th in the graduating class of 238 students, Cecil Gabler, principal, said.

He was recently elected to the National Honor Society of the school and was co-captain of last year's football team.

He has taken all the mathematics and science courses offered by the school since his ninth grade.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

The True and the False

I don't know what Ethel Waters is trying to prove exactly except that she is a very talented and versatile girl and, by this time, everyone must know that. She has been a night club singer, a star of one of the greatest Broadway revues "As Thousands Cheer," a highly regarded screen and stage actress—she just concluded a long run in "Member of the Wedding." Currently, she is the author of a best-selling autobiography, "His Eye Is On The Sparrow," and she's also, I'm afraid, a television comic, the least satisfactory of her enterprises.

John Crosby

Miss Waters' autobiography is a brutally self-revelatory book in which she confesses candidly to a girlhood in Philadelphia's red-light district, the ability to swear like 14 dockhands and an occasional theft when she was hungry. There was a great deal of pitiless detail about the world of the Negro slums—the vice, the dope, the disease, and the crushing poverty. Not a pretty story at all, but a great story because Miss Water surmounted all that and also hurdled a race barrier of which she's bitterly conscious.

I BRING ALL THAT up because "Beulah," Miss Waters' TV show in which she plays the title role, presents the opposite side of the picture— the candy-coated stereotype of Negro life under the beneficient protection of the white man. Beulah (or Miss Waters) is a maid in the Henderson household, the best cook in town, the mother protector of the Henderson household and the perennial fiancee of a no-good boy friend named Bill.

Bill is a composite of all the Bills that have been celebrated as good-for-nothings since the song of that name. He talks big, is everlastingly jobless, tries to fix things and generally messes everything up beautifully. At various times, he has attempted to operate a matrimonial agency, employment agency, contests of all sorts and anything else that promises a quick buck. Invariably, Miss Waters has to rescue him from these unfortunate ventures.

"WE ARTISTS of the culinary art must aid each other in our culinary profession," is a fair sample of his dialogue. That is, it is orotund, redundant and polysyllabic—as custom decrees in these matters. Not only is the language laid out by tradition, but the manner of uttering it is fixed and circumscribed. "I do declare, Beulah You do seem to be in a pred-i-c-a-ment"—like a child just encountering his first big word.

Besides Beulah and Bill, there's another character, Oriole, played by Butterfly McQueen, a feather-brained idiot who has trouble landing a man. Others drift in from time to time named Petunia, Magnolia, or Jasmine in such profusion that you may get the idea you're at a flower show.

Of course this way of depicting Negroes is an old standby in radio, where somehow it seems much less noticeable. Amos 'n' Andy are not above it, exactly, but at least "Amos 'n' Andy" is graced by wit and charm and contains one of the great ruffians of our literature, de Kingfish. "Beulah," which is a pretty fair five-time-a-week radio show, is not blessed (on television) by anything resembling wit; its plots are tortuous and interminable and its acting rudimentary.

I don't know whether we will forgive this sort of stereotyping on television nearly as readily as we did on radio. Certainly, not in the case of Beulah, which has no real reason for existing. Pretty soon, though, "Amos 'n' Andy" will be transformed into a television show with a brand new cast of characters which does not include the original Amos 'n' Andy, Correll and Gosden, though Correll and Gosden are still very much in charge of the show. It'll be interesting to see how well they manage it. They got quite a problem on their hands.

We are in a state of Emergency. We must build our military strength—and, at the same time, we must keep our economy strong for the long pull. Inflation bleeds both!

Every dollar cut from non-military spending is a dollar available for defense

—and a check on Inflation

Senators and representatives who have studied the matter say non-military expenditures could be cut back 5 to 7 billion dollars without crippling essential Government functions or services.

Every dollar our Government can cut from non-military spending is a dollar saved for the defense effort. It is also a dollar cut from the amount our Government must get from you in taxes, or by borrowing. Every dollar so cut helps keep prices in check by holding down the demand for goods and services.

Your money is at stake

All of us as taxpayers are already feeling the pinch of increased taxes, and there are more ahead. As consumers we are already feeling the rise in prices. So every one of us has a personal stake in how our Government meets the responsibility of cutting non-military expenditures.

Calling on representatives in Government for economy in non-military spending is one of the most effective ways of aiding the defense effort and combatting Inflation—the Sixth Column Enemy—at the same time.

Of course, cutting back means giving up some things, but this must be done in order to help pay for defense. The only source from which the Government can get money is the people—and one of those people is you.

Five more things that must be done to check Inflation:

1. Increase production: To meet military needs, provide civilian necessities, help keep prices down.
2. Support taxes needed to put our Government on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.
3. Accept controls: To assure military materials and to keep prices down by reducing competition for these materials.
4. Increase savings: To provide investment money for greater production, lessen the demand for goods, and to build a personal reserve for our own future needs.
5. Buy only for real needs: We must prevent bidding against each other for scarce goods.

None of these things will be easy for any of us to do. But everybody will agree that it's worth making sacrifices if they result in preventing the Sixth Column Enemy—INFLATION—from bleeding our economy.

This message is one of a series on Inflation. It is brought to you by the life insurance companies and their agents in the interest of keeping America strong and protecting the purchasing power of the dollars of their 83 million policyholders.

You can help check Inflation by doing your part and by letting your representatives in Government know that you support every action they take to check Inflation.

Upside Down Ham Loaf Is Easy on Budget

AS MUCH fun to make as upside down cake is this inverted version of ham loaf. Once it's baked, you turn the pan upside down on your platter and this good-sized ham loaf slips out, topped with pineapple. Canned slices or the diced fruit arranged in rings can be used for the gay garnish.

A hint of brown sugar blends with the pineapple for a flavor that's so good with the ham. And a fresh, different touch is added with parsley in the loaf itself. Best of all, you serve this main dish on a budget, using thrifty wheat flakes that also add a subtle flavor you're sure to like.

UPSIDE DOWN HAM LOAF

1 lb ground lean smoked ham
½ lb ground lean fresh pork
¼ cup chopped parsley
2½ cups wheat flakes
¾ t salt
¼ t pepper
1 egg
¾ cup milk
¼ cup pineapple syrup
1 cup diced canned pineapple
2 T brown sugar

Combine ham, pork, parsley, slightly crushed wheat flakes, salt, and pepper with egg, milk and pineapple syrup; mix well. Place pineapple in bottom of 9x5x3 inch loaf pan and sprinkle with brown sugar. Pack pork mixture on top. Bake in moderate oven (350-375 F.) about one hour. Remove from pan turning upside down onto platter to serve. Yield, eight to ten servings.

Note: Ground veal or lamb may be used in place of fresh pork.

Marsox Take Over First Place--Richmond Here Tonight

FOOT-HIGH SLIDE. St. Louis Cardinals Catcher Del Rice is out sliding into second base with right foot high in air as Chicago Cubs Second Baseman Twig Terwilliger throws to first to catch Shortstop Solly Hemus for a double play in second inning of game in Chicago. Play went from Cub First Baseman Phil Cavarretta to Terwilliger and back to Cavarretta. St. Louis won, 6 to 3.

Score Clean Sweep In Twinbill With Lima

By JOHN SHORT

The Marion Red Sox wrapped up their first double win of the season yesterday at Lincoln Park by downing Lima's Phillies, 7-5, in the afternoon and taking the nightcap, 4-2. The Saturday night tilt was rained out.

The double win bettered the mark set by list year's champion Marsox. The 1950 team was held to splits through June and won its first double bill after Elmer Yoter took over in July.

The Richmond Tigers move into Lincoln Park tonight for the first of a two-game series. Either Bobo Salerno or Hyde Scott will draw the assignment for the Marsox. Game time is 8 p. m.

Second Start

Big Bob Penny, making his second start of the season, gave up two runs in the first inning out managed to post three of his 12 strikeouts in that frame. The Sox posted their first marker in the second inning when Klingman was driven in from third on Penny's drive to right-center field.

Murray Scott, Lima leadoff hitter in the third stanza, caught Penny's fast one waist high and drove it over the rightfield wall to boost the Phil's lead to 3-1.

Dick Malacrea, Lima hurler, developed a streak of wildness in the fourth and walked the first three Sox to face him. Jim Evenik unloaded a double and the locals went in front. Two more runs were added in the fifth when George Stendel singled, stole second base and scored on a single by catcher Don Borger. Bob Penny connected on a sharp ground ball to the infield which was fumbled by third baseman Jerry Sheehan. Borger scored on the play. The final Marion tally was driven in by Phil Renzi's single after John Andrews parked a double against the left field fence in the sixth inning.

Rally In Ninth

The Phillies, rallied in the ninth when Skipper Barney Lutz opened with a single, went to second on wild pitch and went to third on an infield out. He crossed the plate on a passed ball. Dick Tarys was called from the bullpen with two away and ended the rally by striking out Dick Malbauer with the tying run on first base.

The seven-inning nightcap was a pitchers' duel for five innings with Bob Marciniec and Don Erickson matching throws.

Art Leon opened the fifth with a single to left. The next batter, Erickson, smashed a grounder which Marcineic fielded cleanly but threw wild to first base allowing Leon to score. Erickson took third and attempted to score on a fly ball to leftfield. He was cut down at the plate by a perfect throw from George Radik.

The Sox tied the score in the bottom of the fifth when big Marvin Stendel caught hold of an Erickson throw and lined it over the left field wall, John Andrews, leading off in the sixth struck out but took first on a passed ball. Radik singled and both runners moved up on a sacrifice by Renzi. Stendel drew a base on balls to load the bases. Don Borger was sent in to hit for Pete Choukalas and forced Andrews at the plate. Then Ed Sadowski connected for a single to right field to score two runs. With Borger on third and Sadowski on first, the Sox pulled a double steal to score Borger.

The Phils picked up another run in the top of the seventh on singles by Safekoviak and Leon, a base on balls and an infield out.

Scrappy little Peppy Vinci, Marsox shortstop, sat out yesterday's games. He expects to be sidelined for at least two more days with a troublesome boil on his knee.

Ed Sadowski caught the nightcap despite a bad boil on his thigh and Phil Renzi is nursing a strawberry on the knee.

George Klingman, a newcomer to the Marion roster, filled in at shortstop for Vinci in a commendable manner yesterday. The San Francisco native was signed shortly before the first game yesterday by Business Manager Don Williamson.

Midget Car Driver Killed

ALEXANDRIA, Ind., April 30—(UP)—Race Driver Paul R. Camp, Hicksville, O., died of a broken neck yesterday when his midget car overturned during a race at the Armscap Speedway here.

The 36-year-old Camp was alive when pulled from the car but died enroute to St. John's Hospital at Anderson. Track officials said the car hit a rough spot on a turn and rolled over several times.

STOCK CAR WINNER

CLEVELAND, April 30—(AP)—Bob Moore of Kent won the 20-lap feature race yesterday at the stock car opener on Sportsman's Park Speedway here. National Champion Mike Klapak of Warren and Mike Little of Johnstown, Pa., finished behind him in that order.

Tribe Drops Two Games To Browns

CLEVELAND, April 30—(AP)—Humbled by a double loss to the St. Louis Browns, the Cleveland Indians had today off to get ready for an invasion by the league's four eastern clubs.

The 6-3, 13-11 defeats in St. Louis yesterday dropped the Tribe into a tie with the Washington Nationals for the league lead.

It also made it possible for the Boston Red Sox to pass the Indians if Boston can sweep the two-game series opening here tomorrow night.

The biggest crowd so far this season will be on hand to welcome back Lou Boudreau, who is playing shortstop for the Red Sox after 12 years in a Cleveland uniform.

Feller To Go

Bob Feller, who lost four to Boston last season and won none, will hurl for the Tribe against the Red Sox southpaw, Mel Parnell.

The Indians outhit the Browns in both games yesterday, but were unable to hold early leads. They left 12 men stranded on base in the first game, to the Browns' three and had 13 marooned in the nightcap to St. Louis' 10.

It no longer is a guestion of where the giants will finish. Flabbergasted fans now are asking —will they finish?

Thunderstruck by the club's 11th consecutive defeat—Yes, the Giants lost again yesterday—New York fandom is wondering what Leo Durocher is going to do next.

Brooklyn has won all five clashes between these arch interborough rivals. Two more losses would equal the Giants' longest losing streak. They dropped 13 straight in 1902 and 1944.

It was not until the sixth inning yesterday that the Dodgers broke up a 2-2 deadlock with a three-run uprising to pave the way for their 6-3 victory.

Harry Brecheen held the Cubs to six hits in Chicago to win his second game as the Cardinals pounded out a 6-3 triumph. Enos Slaughter drove in three St. Louis runs with a double and two singles.

Uphill Battle

Pittsburgh climaxed an uphill battle, beating Cincinnati, 9-8, in the opener of a doubleheader that went 13 innings. The second game ended in a 1-1 ten-inning tie called because of the Pennsylvania curfew law. Doubles by Pete Castiglione and George Metkovich won the opener in the 13th after Ralph Kiner's homer had tied the score at 9-9 in the ninth.

The Senators backed into their share of the lead, accepting a 4-0 licking by the Yankees in New York. Cleveland and Washington each has won seven and lost three. The third-place Yankees have won eight and lost four.

Ed Lopat pitched the shutout, his second in a row, and his third victory without a defeat.

Boston's Red Sox tallied four runs in the 13th to outlast the Athletics, 12-8, in the first game of a scheduled twin bill in Philadelphia The Sunday 5.45 p.m. (EST) curfew called a halt to hostilities after the Sox had grabbed a 5-0 first inning lead in the second game.

Ted Williams' homer, his fourth of the season, climaxed the 13th inning rally.

Ken Holcombe pitched a five-hitter as the Chicago White Sox shut out the Tigers in Detroit, 4-0. Aaron Robinson collected three hits and Nelson Fox drove in two runs for the winners. Hal Newhouser was the loser.

Saints Move Out Of A.A. Cellar

By The Associated Press

St Paul climbed out of the cellar but all other American Association clubs failed to make headway Sunday after splitting doubleheaders.

The Saints scored the only sweep, defeating Louisville, 10-0, and, 7-6, with first inning uprisings to move into seventh place.

Milwaukee remained in the lead with a ½ game edge over Kansas City by dividing with Columbus. The Red birds, who plummeted to eighth place, won the first game, 5-4, to snap a four-game losing streak.

The Brewers rebounded for a 6-2 second game triumph to cap a Milwaukee road trip record of 9-3. Columbus' only runs were homers by Mo Mozzali and Roy Broome.

Kansas City edged Toledo 6-5 in the starter but the Mud Hens took the afterpiece, 8-5, to break a four-game losing string.

Fourth - place Indianapolis downed Minneapolis, 3-1, in the second contest after losing the opener, 3-2.

Reds Slackers In Support For Ramsdell

PHILADELPHIA, April 30—(AP)—If Willie Ramsdell were a letter-writing guy, this is the sort of note he might be tempted to send to his Cincinnati teammates:

Wanted—a couple of runs. In return, will offer the best available in knuckle-ball pitching. (signed) Willie.

The Reds have promised Ramsdell at least one marker when he goes against the Philadelphia Phillies here tomorrow. But if the Kiowa, Kansan insists on being shown, it's not too hard to understand. The Rhinelanders have given him a total of 35 scoreless innings over a two-year span.

The former Brooklyn Dodger hand has a 0-2 record to date. In his initial start, the Chicago Cubs blanked Cincinnati 3-0 In his second try the Redlegs managed to get Ramsdell one run, but that wasn't enough to counterbalance the three tallies rung up by St. Louis.

Howis Fox, who is shaping up fine for the Reds so far this year, could have used some scoring himself in the second game of yesterday's double-header with the Pittsburgh Pirates. He had muffled the Buccos' bats for eight full innings while boarding a one-run edge, but pinch-hitter Wally Westlake's ninth inning homer tied the score and the game ended in a tie. A Sunday curfew halted the game after a scoreless 10th inning.

The opening game went 13 torrid innings, with Pittsburgh emerging on the sunny side of a 9-8 count. A three-game Redleg streak went by the boards with the loss.

LEADS WOMEN GOLFERS

FRESNO, Calif., April 30—(AP)—Comely Betty Jameson, golfing pride of Texas on the feminine side, led her closest rival by three strokes as the field teed off today in the second round of the 54-hole Women's $3000 open championship tournament. The San Antonio miss, former national amateur and open title holder now playing in the professional ranks, turned in a great men's par 72 yesterday to head the field in the initial round.

Booster Teams On A.B.C. Firing Line

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 30—(AP)—Booster teams continue firing in the American Bowling Congress tournament with top keglers due back Thursday.

A total of 1,400 bowlers on 280 booster teams rolled Sunday with the Five Spots of Minneapolis creating the only stir with a 1,008 game. Although the team total of 2,681 was short of the leaders in the booster division, the 1,008 goes into the books as the 10th highest team single game ever rolled in the booster division in A. B. C. competition.

Some of the nation's leading teams will be back on the runways beginning Thursday. Willie Ebosh and Earl Linsz, 1950 doubles champions from Cleveland, O., defend their crown Thursday afternoon. Their winning total last year was nine pins under the present leaders, Eddie Marshall and Bob Benson of Lansing, Mich., who lead with 1,334.

Prexy Nine Meets Newark In Tourney

Coach Pete Howison's Harding baseballers travel to Columbus this afternoon to meet Newark High School in the Central District Class A baseball tournament.

The game will be played at Columbus Central's diamond and is set to get underway at 4 p. m.

The Prexies go into the tourney play with only seven innings of actual competition under their belts. In their opening game, they battled to a 5-5 tie with the highly-touted Galion Tigers in a five-inning game called because of darkness. In a game last Wednesday at Lima, they held a 3-1 lead over Lima Central when the game was called in the second inning because of rain.

The Newark Wildcats have played three full games and have registered three wins. Jim Edington, ace Harding hurler, is expected to get the nod from Howison while Jim Quickel, who holds two of the Newark wins, will be on the mound for the Cats.

The winner of today's game will return to action Wednesday at 4 p. m. against Washington C. H. on the No. 4 diamond at Ohio State University.

Murray, Zoldak, Minoso Depart

Indians Get Lou Brissie From A's in 3-Way Swap

CLEVELAND, Apr. 30—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians got Pitcher Lou Brissie today from the Philadelphia Athletics in a three-way trade involving the Chicago White Sox.

The Indians sent Outfielder Ray Murray, Pitcher Sam Zoldak and Outfielder Dave Pope and Gus Zernial to the A's. The Chisox got Infielder Orestes Minoso and Outfielder Paul Lehner.

No Cash

No cash was involved in the deals.

Desperate for a southpaw thrower, Indians Manager Hank Greenberg arranged the swap by means of long distance telephone calls.

He got Zernial and Philley from the Sox and sent them to the A's along with Murray and Zoldak for the Trio of stars.

LOU BRISSIE

From the A's he got Brissie and Lehner. He kept Brissie and sent Lehner and Minoso to the Sox. Minoso batted .339 for San Diego last season and has recently been playing first base for the Tribe.

Brissie, a 27-year-old native of Honea Path, S. C., was with the Army in World War II. He was wounded in both legs during the Battle of the Bulge. He won 19 games for the A's last season. He has a 102-67 career record.

Wears Plate

Wounded in the European campaign, he had to beg doctors not to amputate his left leg at the knee.

Said Greenberg: "We didn't want to give up Minoso. He has the makings of one of the really good ball players of our time. He's the kind of a deal a club makes when it's going all-out for the pennant."

Zernial batted .280 and Philley .242 for the Sox last year.

Lehner hit at a .309 average for the A's.

Murray batted .273 last season for the Tribe. Zoldak won four and lost two.

Prexies Set To Go Again

Meanwhile, Coach Ken Somerlot is priming his crew for the Harding Night Relays Friday night at the Stadium.

The Midtown Chevrolet Co will present a rotating trophy to the winning school at the Harding meet. Walter Grumblatt, owner, will make the presentation.

A special race was announced today by Harding officials. An 880-yard relay will be run for Marion County schools. Pleasant High School entered the event today and is the first of the county schools to enter.

Jockey Willing To Pay Bill for Filly in Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30—(UP)—A cocky jockey named Billie Fisk was willing to risk $1,000 today that Sickle's Image—a filly—can win the Kentucky Derby.

That's what it costs to enter a horse in the big turf classic at Churchill Downs Saturday, and little Billie says he'll foot the bill just for the chance to ride Sickle's Image.

However, Clarence Hartwick, the owner-trainer of Sickle's Image, still isn't sure the filly can go the full derby distance of a mile-and-a-quarter. He points to the record, which shows only one filly—Regret in 1915—ever has won the rose run.

Navy Lowers Standards

Effective Tuesday, Naval mental requirements will be on a par with those of the other Armed Forces, Sykes said.

The minimum score on the Navy mental examination has been lowered about four percent.

In addition to the lowering of the mental standards, Sykes said physical requirements also would be lowered. They now will conform with those in effect during World War II.

Moley

Apparently Acheson is not sure And apparently Roosevelt in consigning Formosa to China at Cairo, did not foresee the day when China would be a hostile and aggressive force

The classic theory of history is that war and military force are only one of the methods by which diplomacy attains its ends War it is said is merely an extension of diplomatic actions Theoretically that is true But where shall we draw the line?

UNDER A GREAT foreign minister like Bismarck, backed as he was by the firm confidence of a shrewd king and emperor, the military was a mere instrument of his purposes But Acheson is not Bismarck

In the late war Marshall, backed by some but not all of the military brass, favored the defeat of Germany by a supreme cross-Channel operation. Churchill favored another course It is not well known that an important element among our military strategists placed in writing a plan nearer to Churchill's plan than to Marshall's

Roosevelt decided for Marshall with the strong urging of Stalin as an element in that plan That decision, many people now believe, was wrong. We won too soon and in the wrong place Our victory became Russia's opportunity

The serious fact now is whether the ideas of Acheson and of Marshall are sound. And President Truman seems to be swayed by them.

Hence, it may be well in taking sides in this issue to ignore hair-splitting about what is military and what is political and face things as they are—a merger of all considerations. For the two are inseparable.

Hip Fractured In Fall From Gate

Mrs John M Malone of near Marion, was admitted to City Hospital Saturday afternoon for treatment of a fractured hip. Her daughter, Mrs. Opal Blair of 297 Cass avenue, reported that her mother suffered the injury while attempting to climb a gate.

Mrs Malone and her son John Raymond were on their way fishing about six miles west of LaRue, and while attempting to climb a gate Mrs Malone lost her balance and fell.

Speaker Offers Answer To Problems

Terms Christian Science Solution To "Life's Riddle"

If one's life seems like a disorganized jigsaw puzzle, the pieces can be fitted together in a satisfying way by using the deep Science of God and man shown by Christ Jesus, Frank C. Ayres of Indianapolis, Ind., told a Marion audience Saturday night.

Within the simple teachings and remarkable works of the Master—when they are grasped in their mighty Science—lies the complete answer to the perplexing riddle of human existence with all its problems, Mr. Ayres declared.

This answer has great practical value, he brought out, because it shows the way to become free from every form of evil.

A member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Mr. Ayres came to Marion in the course of an extended speaking tour, upon invitation of First Church Christ Scientist. He spoke in Church Auditorium on the subject "Christian Science: The Solution of Being." Miss Leora Ankney, Second Reader, introduced him.

Mr. Ayres pointed out that the marvelous answer to all human problems which Jesus presented was not just a personal possession of his own, but a healing and saving way of Truth available to all men.

Disciples Given Understanding

"He never spoke of Himself as an exhibitionist, as having any power not available to all," said the lecturer. "Jesus imparted an understanding to His disciples which enabled them to perform similar works." Mr. Ayres described this understanding as based on a correct understanding of divine law—an understanding readily available to everyone today in Christian Science.

Explaining the relation between the teachings of Christ Jesus and Christian Science, Mr. Ayres said of its Discoverer and Founder, Mary Baker Eddy: "She claims no slightest addition to Jesus' teaching and practice, but she does claim that God revealed to her a practical understanding of them through a secred search of the Bible, and that in her textbook she has put this understanding into everyday, usable form."

The works of Jesus denied the testimony of the five physical senses and clearly showed that real substance and life are something altogether different from what mankind generally assumed, Mr. Ayres said.

Restoration Of Harmony

Jesus broke so-called laws of nature in his healings and other miracles, showed the ugly pictures before the material senses to be false and untrue, and thus restored harmony, said Mr. Ayres.

Hoy Jesus did this remained a mystery after about the third century, until recent times, because the talent and genius of the ages refused to accept his simple but unmistakable teaching that the evidence before the physical senses is unreliable and unreal, said the speaker.

But the revelation of Jesus' method came to Mary Baker Eddy, who for many years had sought the explanation of divine healing, he went on. In 1866, when at death's door after an accident, Mrs. Eddy read in her Bible how Jesus healed the palsied man Suddenly the truth dawned.

"Suddenly there burst upon her waiting thought a flash of revelation—that spiritual healing is by divine law. This glimpse of divine Truth brought about her immediate healing."

CIRCLE ENTERTAINED

Circle No. 10 of First Presbyterian Church was entertained Thursday at the country lodge of Mrs Robert White with 1 o'clock luncheon. Members of Group No. 5 assisted in serving the 21 members and two guests present. Mrs. Floyd Topliff, assistant leader, presided in the absence of Mrs. C. B. McCoy. Opening prayer was by Mrs. J. R. Folsom who gave an appropriate message on spring. She gave devotions with Scripture, and Mrs. C G. Smith presented a paper giving details of the highlights in the story of the life of Christ.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

I told myself with bitter whimsy that my father need not have worried over my being disturbed at his announcement. Instead, I warmly approved his edict, although my heart ached a bit at the prospect of not having Faith in our own apartment. But I knew that if danger threatened, Faith, her aged and infirm grandmother, and young Peter, innocent cause of all the disturbance, would be far safer under Katharine's care in the spacious "owner's suite of Philip Veritzen at the top of the Lansfield, than they could be anywhere else.

I saw agreement with my reaction in Dicky's eyes, but, when I looked at my mother-in-law, I saw bitter disappointment in hers. It was not only the natural frustration of the aged in realizing that they have ceased to be useful in caring for others, but must be troublesome charges themselves, but the more devastating knowledge that her melodrama-loving soul could not be among those present in any excitement that might develop in my father's latest, and most important problem, but must be immured in a prison; most luxurious, to be sure, but still a prison.

I gave a mental salute to her sportsmanship, however, when she lifted her head, with a gallant smile on her face, and addressed my father.

"All non-combatants retire behind the lines?" she said with a rising inflection.

My father gave her what I call his "saluting smile," in return.

"Faith and young Peter certainly are non-combatants, to be guarded," he said, "but I should not dream of putting either you, or Mrs. Bickett in that category. I am afraid Faith will become excxeedinly restless, separated from her family, but with you there, I am sure she will be contented."

My mother - in - law's lips quirked in amusement — Dicky gets at least part of his gorgeous sense of humor from her—and her eyes were filled with mischief when she answered my father.

"Aren't you afraid old Machiavelli's ghost will slap you down?" she asked "But 'I thanks you for the compliment, jest the same.'"

Her parody of the mythical man who explained his inaility to change a dime, was perfect, and we all laughed aloud, even my father, though his laughter really was a mild chuckle.

"Touche, Madam!" he said. "I hereby promise to send for you if the going gets tough."

"I shall rely on that," she told him, and then his face was serious again as he turned to Katharine and me, sitting next to each other.

"What do you think of my decision?" he asked courteously, although both Katharine and I knew that our answer, whether approving, or not, would make not the slightest difference to his plan.

I gestured to Katharine to answer first, and she spoke quickly.

"I heartily approve of it, she said, wasting no words, as is her custom.

"And you, Margaret?"

"I share Katharine's opinion," I told him. "It will be far safer for Faith and young peter up there."

I caught myself, just in time, from adding Mother Graham's name to my list and saw, with relief, that she was watching my father, instead of me, and had not noticed my momentary hesitation. Then my father put another question.

"How soon can you move upstairs?" he asked.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

IT'S A HUNDRED percent war for the kids bloodily sweating out the Red Chinese in Korea, but it's only an eight percent war in Washington. Fully nine months after the first invading guns sent shells across the parallel, our military strategists have asked for only eight percent of our total output—although they've created an all-out emergency.

And furthermore, by 1952, these military planners, if you'll excuse the expression, will be asking for only 15 percent of what we are turning out, but will be tying up enough raw stuff to cripple many an industry. To put it bluntly, there is the most chaotic war planning in our history — and the charge comes not from critics of the White House, but from its best friends, the labor leaders, whose experts have painstakingly gathered documentary evidence to back up their accusations.

Victor Riesel

These labor men charge that this emergency-without-urgency has skyrocketed the prices of 28 basic commodities needed in our daily lives—by 40 to 49 percent above the all-time high reached right after Korea.

* * *

THE RESULT IS that money is short. People, by the millions, just aren't buying anything except what they need for their daily chores and household tables. Result is that the civilian manufacturers who still have enough metal to turn out refrigerators, washing machines, television sets, and a thousand other gadgets which make a home livable and comfortable, find their stuff isn't moving and must be stockpiled.

The favorite gag in Washington today is that "the only shortage so far is a shortage of warehouses."

As the stuff piles, up news comes of workers being laid off in small batches around the nation. Add to this the fact that the government is seizing huge stores of such vital raw metals as aluminum and you'll see why thousands of little businessmen are worried about being forced out of business by the lack of raw materials lying idle in federal stockpiles.

But they're not the only ones worried. Ask John Lewis, if you can reach him, as he drives south in his favorite old Buick, about his concern over jobless and part-time coaldiggers.

TALK TO THE steel workers' leaders, if you can pierce their gloom as they literally weep while awaiting word from Pittsburgh's Mercy Hospital. There, the venerable C.I.O. chief, Phil Murry, lies in razor-edged pain and deep fever while physicians decide whether the obstruction in either his pancreas or stomach will respond to surgery.

These C.I.O. men will tell you of sharp confusion inside the defense department. They will tell you bitterly that government agencies do not know even how much steel they used in military production in January or February — or how much steel or aluminum the seemingly unworried war departments will need in May, June or July. They have not decided on how many tanks we'll need Nor how many fighting and bombing aircraft we want.

Talk to the C.I.O.'s Auto Union chiefs and they'll tell you that it takes almost four to six months to train a good man for the war weapons or airplane assembly lines. And they'll reveal that the industry's employers just don't know how many men to add to the payroll. So this lack of planning means, on this specific front, that every order for stuff needed abroad will just be delayed by half a year while a mechanical force is trained.

Anr, asked the labor leaders, how can the war agencies curtail metals intelligently with no real knowledge of military needs? Naturally, the war boards will grab off enormous amounts this summer so they won't be blamed for not having the stuff around in the event the Defense Department decides an 8 percent war just isn't enough.

So while the aluminum, steel and copper lies around in huge and idle piles, the 92 percent of the nation's business which has not been asked to go to war will suffer.

SO A SUBDUED, almost unnoticeable, fear has seized many a sector. People aren't buying because they're confused by this war which isn't a war.

An amusing, but deeply psychological, reflection of this fear is being noted in midwest labor circles. Union chiefs there gleefully report that the mobsters who usually operate around the big plants in the industrial cities are weeping because gambling has fallen off. Many a bookie is going broke because the average chap who'll place a two-buck bet just isn't spending the deuce.

The government's aware of all this. At lease two cabinet members, Secretaries Sawyer and Snyder, and the entire stabilization crowd are not now worrying about inflation. They're harassed by fears of deflation—and a depression inside the war which isn't a war.

Uncle Arch

By Inez Robb

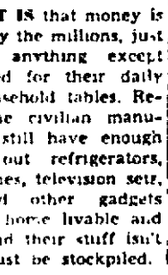
DAVIS, CALIF.

"Let me see,' Uncle Arch mused the other evening as we sat around the fireplace, "I think the first social function you ever attended was an Indian funeral. We always got an invitation and I think I carried you."

Well, it isn't everyone who makes her debut at a formal Indian burial ceremony, I might mention in passing. And particularly, Uncle Arch pointed out, on the only privately owned reservation in the United States.

It was kind of odd and interesting how my grandpa Asbill came to own an Indian reservation, continued my uncle, R. Arch Asbill of Davis. The Asbills came across the plains in a covered wagon from Missouri. Grandpa didn't find much gold, in Lassen Co. etc but he sure thought the scenery was mighty pretty in the mountains up in Lake County, Calif.



Inez Robb

SO GRANDPA TOOK to raising cattle on quite a spread of land.

"Now there was a little band of Digger Indians and a camp or village on this land your grandpa took up," Uncle Arch continued. "Well, your grandpa and the Indians got along fine. Then one day along came a government agent and said he would have to move all the Indians to a reservation.

"Well, sir, you never heard so much hollering and yelling and wailing in your life. And you just ain't heard any weeping or wailing until a Digger Indian cuts loose. This little tribe had been hunting and living in that district for generations and the thought of moving killed 'em.

"SO YOUR GRANDPA, seeing how grieved the Indians were, told the government agent that the Indians were welcome to stay. He said he had more land than any one man could ever really use, and the Indians weren't taking up much room, anyway, they were there first.

"So the government never moved the Indians, anyway not while the Asbills owned the land. And anyway, that is how your grandpa came to own the only private Indian reservation I ever heard tell of."

And how I came to make my debut at an Indian funeral.

Uncle Arch remembers what good hunting there was for all in those far off days. Vension was so plentiful that grandma Asbill always made her mincemeat with it.

And every time Uncle Arch sees pictures of those maharajahs in India on a fancy pig-sticking expedition, he likes to die laughing. Sixty, seventy years ago, the mountains were full of wild boars with six and eight inch tusks. And they were quite capable of killing a horse or a cow hand, if either was cornered by the savage beasts.

UNCLE ARCH HAS hunted wild boar a-foot and a-horse back, and the idea of hunting them from elephant-back makes him snort in three languages.

"Pour le sport" he says between his teeth, and takes another snort, in a fourth language, bourbon.

And speaking of geriatrics, or the science of growing old gracefully, Uncle Arch, who is crowding 77, keeps young by riding and hunting. He still has the gently bowed legs of a man reared in the saddle and inured to weeks on the range.

And when he used to drive an open touring car, he mounted it exactly as he would a horse. Just threw his leg over the side of the car, scorning to open the door, and settled himself as in a saddle. Then he kicked the accelerator with his spurs and was off in a cloud of dust.

HE IS STILL A dead-eye dick with any shootin' iron made, and in season the deer hide when word gets around that Doc Asbill has taken to the field.

The large living room is a unique testimony of his prowess in the hunting field—and to my Aunt Vere's good humor. It has not one, but an even dozen, mounted deer heads. That is quite a passel of deer heads, any way you look at it, and I doubt if there is another living room in America with twelve (count 'em) mounted deer heads.

There are a few miscellaneous antlers around the room, too. And a few good hunting pictures.

"Makes a man feel at home," says Uncle Arch.

Money Trouble

By Hal Boyle

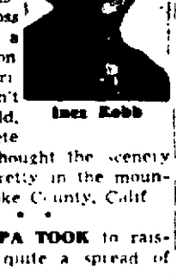
NEW YORK

WHATEVER happened to money? Everybody used to like it. Now everybody seems to be mad at it.

Money once held its head so high and was so respected. Remember? People used to marry for money. They had an awe in their tone when they talked about money. They liked to hold it in their hands and jingle it in their pockets.

The highest tribute one man could say about another was, "Why, he's got money to burn." Money even had a voice of its own. At least folks used to say, "Money talks." And they also had a saying, "Money'll getcha anything in the world."



HAL BOYLE

A person who didn't have a proper regard for money was looked down on. It was said of one who wasted it—"he must think money grows on trees."

Today money has lost its top hat. It is an ex-hero with big clay feet. Money is shabby. Money is a bum, a no-good.

People see money now and they say, "what good is it?" They try to hold it in their hand . . . and it is gone . . . and they say, "What happened to it — did it evaporate?"

A MAN WHO USED to brag he had folding money now wants to know if money is folding. Shakespeare saw it all coming years ago when he wrote, "Who steals my purse steals trash."

Anbody hear money talk lately? It certainly isn't deafening anyone I know. A five-dollar bill today wouldn't dare lift its voice in a five-and-ten-cent store. Whoever anymore says, "Well, you'll have to make this money go a long way." That's just an old joke now. A ten-spot can't get you past two counters in a grocery store without limping.

What happened to money anyway? It was a champ. It had the world at its beck and call. It would buy everything except happiness, and people laughed, "and what good is happiness?" Now they smile sadly and say, "What good is happiness? It won't buy money." That is the new way of low-rating money.

You used to go "buy-buy" with money. Now money just goes "bye-bye."

CHILDREN USED to like to hear their baby banks clink. Now if they don't rustle instead of clinking they begin to hate their father and mother.

Whatever happened to money? Did it just get old and tired? Did people get sick of looking at it? They don't even carry it around the way they did in the old days. They just trade paper checks back and forth, and hardly ever see what once was called "the real thing."

Money . . . money . . . money. A roll big enough to choke an ox no longer will buy a calf a square meal. If you open your billfold and tell a fellow, "That ain't hay," he has an answer. "I can tell it ain't hay," he says, "but just what is it?" He doesn't even recognize it.

Whatever happened to money? It used to be such a fine friendly thing. I hate to see it in the state its in. Some folks still stoutly say nothing's wrong with money. They say it's just as good as it ever was. They say that what is really wrong is a thing called the high cost of living.

WELL, ALL I SAY IS, somebody'd better do something about that darn cost of living then. Because right now money—right or wrong—is getting all the blame.

Remember when everybody said, "You gotta give money credit"? Let's start giving money credit again. Otherwise maybe we won't be able to get credit for money.

Veterans and Draftees Guide —

—By—

Major Thomas M. Nial

The families of all men on active duty — not just those with G I insurance policies — now have full $10,000 protection free in case the serviceman dies as a result of service.

The new insurance law wipes out the right veterans of World Wars I and II have after discharge to apply for new NSLI or GLI. Nor will new NSLI policies be issued to men on active duty.

But present GLI and NSLI policy holders need not worry. Their policies will not be touched. They will have all the rights of renewal, reinstatement, conversion, dividends and so on.

All men on active duty since last June 27 and in the future are covered for $10,000 without premium payments. If one active duty for 30 days or more, they remain covered after separation for 120 days, about four months. During that post discharge period they may take out a new-style NSLI which I'll explain in later columns.

THE SAME $10,000 free protection is given enlistees, reservists and national guardsmen, "provisionally accepted and directed or ordered to report to a place for final acceptance or for final entry upon active duty." If they die enroute, or within 120 days from a disability incurred enroute, their beneficiaries get the $10,000 indemnity.

The protection is given draftees who, after reporting to their draft boards, have died or will die as the result of a disability on the way to the induction station for actual induction, not just for a pre-induction physical exam.

Also protected are reservists and guardsmen ordered into active training duty for 14 days or more, but their protection does not continue for 120 days afterwards unless their active duty is at least 30 days.

RESERVISTS AND guardsmen are not protected during their weekend or one-night weekly drill, unless it involves flying. They are protected when "engaged in aerial flights in government-owned or leased aircraft" as part of their training, whether for more or less than 14 days, whether with or without pay.

The indemnity for servicemen who already have NSLI policies will be just enough to bring their total insurance up to to $10,000. A G.I. with a $10,000 NSLI policy gets no additional protection. One with $8,000 of NSLI gets $2,000 indemnity protection, etc.

But each of them may suspend NSLI premiums, get $10,000 free insurance on active duty and pick up their policies after separation. I'll explain how next time.

Unlike NSLI policy holders, those protected by the indemnity may not name anyone they please as beneficiaries The list of eligibles is restricted to the serviceman's family: spouse, children, parents, brothers and sisters.

HE MAY NAME one or more from the list, state the proportion of the indemnity he wants paid to each and change his beneficiaries as often as he wishes without notifying them.

Unlike NSLI, the payment will never be made to the beneficiary in a lump sum. It will always be in 120 monthly installments. The full $10,000 indemnity will be paid at the rate of $92.90 a month for ten years.

Multiply $92 90 by 120 and you get $11,148—much more than $10,000. Why? Because of the 2¼ percent annual interest the unpaid indemnity will draw.

No Basis for Strategy

AN ASSOCIATED PRESS poll on the Truman-MacArthur issue shows an even division of U. S. senators on party lines. Twenty-one Democrats and one Republican line up with President Truman. Twenty-one Republicans and two Democrats are in general agreement with Gen. MacArthur.

That is a total of only 45 out of 96 senators—and the other 51 senators turned down a chance to commit themselves in advance of congressional hearings. Their decision to wait for more evidence is sound. Partisanship is no basis indeed for military strategy.

It is easy to understand no one is pleased with the Truman Administration's strategy for the Korean war; the strategy has not been successful so far and offers slight hope of success, barring a sudden change of heart in Peiping. When Gen. MacArthur said he favored a new strategy which "would win the war," everybody wanted to hear about it.

It is no discredit to Gen. MacArthur that he has been unable to prove to general satisfaction that his strategy would win the war. Like Mr. Truman, he can do no more than hope to win the war—or to win the peace, as Mr. Truman prefers to think of it. There are no foolproof ways to win wars.

Gen. MacArthur this week will provide details to Congress about his strategy. A congressional hearing has no direct bearing on official strategy. But it goes without saying that it is going to have direct bearing on the positions of congressmen—especially the 51 U. S. senators who are reserving their opinion until they know just where it is that Gen. MacArthur and Mr. Truman are unable to see eye to eye.

Keep Those Buttons Shiny

WE DO not know how many policemen there are in the United States. It seems like 50,000,000 when they aren't wanted—5,000 when they are.

But all of them have been having a rough ride lately, because the impression has been getting around that policemen are part and parcel of the corruption of public authority by hoodlums, racketeers and vice organizers. A job that is no fun at best is being made a little rougher.

This is a bad break for all good policemen and all policemen who would like to be better than the public will let them be. It takes away some of the prestige of a position which certainly is not made attractive by either the pay or the risk that go with it. Policemen, too, have ideas about what causes corruption of government—and some of the ideas are not flattering to "law-abiding citizens" who try to corrupt policemen.

It is as if a fix-minded public were intent on using its police force to test its own resistance to corruption. The good policemen are put on the spot. They know they will be smeared with tar from the same stick used on the policemen who yield to temptation.

In the midst of an unusual amount of interest in the problem of what happens when the public corrupts its law enforcement agencies, there should be gratitude for law-enforcement agents who are incorruptible. If it weren't for them things would really be in a pickle.

Strategic Retreat

CERTAINLY one of the hardest blows to American pride in the Korean war has been strategic retreat.

The blow is falling again as the enemy puts overwhelming pressure against the center of the defensive line across Korea. American soldiers are yielding to the pressure, fighting rear-guard actions, withdrawing to "previously fortified positions." It is no comfort to citizens at home and probably no comfort to those fighting in Korea to know that the enemy must pay dearly for his gains. They are paying heavily for their losses. Much of the bitterness about the Korean war has stemmed from this dependence on attrition. It makes losses harder to bear. It is not in the great tradition of American militarism.

It is, however, in the great tradition of Asiatic warfare—and that may have a powerful influence over the Chinese Reds in the long run. One of the things remaining to be learned in Korea is how many times the Red generals can make their hordes rush forward to their death without accomplishing anything. They too, have a problem of morale.

Machine Rule

A PSYCHOLOGIST in the University of Chicago, Dr. L. L. Thurstone, says machine rule could be the real thing one of these days. Machines could come pretty close to producing U. S. Supreme Court rulings right now, he points out. All you need to know is what shaped the minds of the human beings who make the decisions and automatic decisions could be obtained more rapidly by pushing a button.

Dr. Thurstone seems to think this would be new and different. Apparently he never heard of a government board packed with puppets for pressure-bloc minorities which must be appeased for political purposes. Their decisions are automatic.

Not 1-Man Government

By George E. Sokolsky

A Seemingly Mistaken Truman Attitude

IN GOING through the material on the curious Dollar Line case which has been in the courts for about six years and brought to Secretary of Commerce Sawyer a charge of contempt, I found this item:

"Judge Bennett Champ Clark said he was on old friend of the President, but:

"'If you have any idea that a letter from the President of the United States has any weight in court, you're very badly mistaken. We have the greatest respect for the office of the President of the United States . . but he is not a lawyer, and he has no more standing in this court than any other citizen. The President has no right to influence litigation by letter to somebody'."

SOKOLSKY

It is curious that the President finds it so difficult to grasp the essentials of our system of government based upon the independence of the three branches of government. Judge Clark is to be congratulated on a courageous statement on the exclusive independence of the judiciary, an attitude which too many of our judges have abandoned in these days of pressures and pressure groups. In fact, a conscientious judge should not even read a letter, not in evidence, in a matter pending before him. Yet, we notice in the press constant references to individuals and associations addressing letters and petitions to judges during litigation. The process is antagonistic to our conceptions of justice.

OUR PEOPLE SEEM to forget that the President of the United States is an official of limited authority whose rights are proscribed by the Constitution.

The writers of the Constitution did not want a despotic king. Had they such a view of the Presidency, they would have chosen George Washington king for life with an arrangement concerning the succession. But they had had all they wanted of George III, a German who tried to be an autocrat in England and over her colonies. Therefore, the powers and the tenure of the President were sharply curtailed.

For instance, a federal judge is appointed for life or good behavior. A United States senator has a six-year term. But the President is limited to a four-year term and Washington, who possessed an unerring instinct for the future, set the precedent of a limit of two terms, a rule followed diligently until Franklin D. Roosevelt managed to set it aside. (The two-term limitation is now law.)

GRANTED THAT the functions of the executive branch of the government have increased since the Constitution was written, the structure of our government has in no manner been altered, and it is upon that structure that our freedom depends. This is particularly true with regard to the courts, for were they to lose their independence, the executive could indeed become a tyrant.

I have, from time to time, called attention to the peril of the ruthless censorship which the President insists upon in relation to testimony of military personnel, even of high rank. For instance, not even a five-star general, to say nothing of lower ranks, may testify before a Congressional committee save within the margins set by the Department of Defense.

IN SIMPLE LANGUAGE, none of their testimony may be believed, not even that of General Omar Bradley or General Eisenhower, because it is not free testimony: it is circumscribed and limited. What will happen, for instance, in the MacArthur situation when General MacArthur, General Wedemeyer, General Ridgway, and others testify as the Department of Defense does not wish them to testify? Will they all be courtmartialed?

The President seems to adopt the attitude that he is the government of the United States. But that is precisely what the Constitution seeks to avoid. The President is one of five officers whom Americans elect to federal positions. These five are president, vice president, two United States senators, and one member of the House of Representatives. No American can vote for more than these and in the eyes of the law, they represent equal branches of the authority of government.

By a system of checks and balances, the Constitution arranges that no one branch is without a relationship to another. For instance, the President appoints the chief justice of the Supreme Court; yet that court can declare an act signed by the President unconstitutional and the chief justice presides over the Senate sitting as a court in an impeachment proceedings.

Ours is a system in which no man is all powerful and in which no one man prevails.

No Future in It

By TRUMAN TWILL

THERE being no secrets from the customers who do not expect to find anything momentous in this column anyway, the lambs whose potential arrival was talked about here last winter have begun to arrive.

In the previous column, it was pointed out that nature has a sound plan for this sort of thing. The lambs are most likely to arrive at the season of the year when the living is easy. With a little of what is sometimes referred to as planned parenthood, they do not arrive until the pastures are green and the weather is balmy.

Most professional sheep herders, for obvious reasons, would plan the arrival a great deal earlier than this. But for a neophyte, there is much to be said for the warm weather timing. It does away with the necessity for hanging around on cold nights with warm blankets and restoratives.

This year, for just about the first time since the 19th century, a lamb has enough potential value to command respectful attention. And not all of the potential value is because of edibility, either. Wool has been bringing a good price. And a reasonably good specimen of sheephood has going-concern value as the source of more lambs, more wool and more sheep on the hoof.

If a fellow were to buy up enough grazing land and enough sheep to take him out of the sideline category, he could earn a fair return on his investment. Provided, that is, that the people who see devils behind the trees when anyone besides themselves yearns for earnings did not make so much fuss that the politicians would think they had to pass a law against sheep.

Aside from that, the big problem would be dogs. The paradox of sheep herding is the victimizing of these timid animals by their most understanding friends. Sheep invariably yield to the impulse to run when they are chased. Dogs yield to the impulse to chase whatever runs.

Consequently, many a flock of sheep has literally been run to death by dogs. If the dogs were savage, they finished the job by going to work on the bodies of their spent and helpless victims. It isn't as bad as it used to be, thanks to dog wardens, but it is still the main worry of sheepmen who are not in constant watch over their flocks.

A sheep man is someone who has enough sheep to be in business—say 500. Or 1,000, to make a more impressive total. The average lambing figures out at about 1.3 a year per ewe. With a 50-50 break on the sexes, a neophyte starting out with a dozen sheep could become a sheep man in about 10 years, provided he lived that long, all the sheep lived that long and his funds held out.

Take it from a neophyte, it would not be worth the effort.

Congress Quiz

Q—Why couldn't the House appropriations committee cut more than 3.3 percent from the Labor Department-Federal Security Agency budget for 1952?

A—The committee made the point in its April 13 report that it was "next to impossible" to makke cuts. It said Congress has no control over much of the money involved, as the programs are fixed by statute and Congress has to appropriate whatever the law requires. The House made a few further cuts, all small, before passing the bill April 18.

Growing Confusion in Government

By Walter Lippmann

SEN. TAFT'S attack last Thursday, on the Joint Chiefs of Staff and on Gen. Bradley, is one more, among many, serious symptoms of a dangerous disease—of the growing confusion in this country about the proper role of the Generals in a republic. Sen. Taft himself is a rather striking example of the thoroughly confused man. He is annoyed because on Tuesday, April 17, just when Gen. MacArthur's plane was arriving in San Francisco, Gen. Bradley delivered a prepared address in Chicago which argued the Administration case against Gen. MacArthur.

LIPPMANN

Sen. Taft might well have complained that Gen. Bradley ought not to be making speeches on controversial questions of high policy. But that is not what Sen. Taft is annoyed about. He is annoyed because the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff agrees with, instead of differing from, the high policy of the President who is his superior officer. Mr. Taft is not criticizing, as he could have and should have, the public intrusion of a military man into matters which it is not his business to discuss. What Sen. Taft complains about is that when Gen. Bradley did intrude into this field he did not say what Sen. Taft would have liked to have had him say.

THIS IS, I SUBMIT, a confused and in fact a silly complaint. If Gen. Bradley or the Chiefs of Staff are expected, are invited, or are compelled to make speeches and to give testimony about questions of high policy, they cannot differ publicly with the President of the United States, they cannot side with his political opponents, and still continue in their offices.

Sen. Taft ought to address himself to the question of whether Generals should engage in public debate on controversial issues. If he took the position that the Generals should do no public talking on these matters, that they should leave all the talking on these matters to their civilian superiors, he would be returning to first principles. Unfortunately, Sen. Taft has lost sight of first principles in this grave matter, the relation between the civil and the military power. For his view of the proper role of the Chiefs of Staff is that they are a kind of high tribunal of experts, independent of and superior to, the President and his secretary of state, and that they may be expected to lay down the law of national policy whenever there is—and there always is—a strategic consideration involved.

I say this of Sen. Taft because 15 months ago he joined Sen. Knowland in demanding that Gen. Bradley be summoned before the foreign relations committee of the Senate to say whether he agreed with the President on the question of Formosa. Sen. Taft could easily have found out privately what Gen. Bradley thought about Formosa. No one who had a firm grasp of first principles would have wanted any General to testify publicly on such a disputed question of high national policy.

SEN. TAFT'S CONFUSION in this matter is most unfortunate for the country. As the leader of the opposition he ought to be making a public issue of the way in which the Truman administration has abdicated its responsibility and has thrown that responsibility upon the Generals and upon the Admirals. Some of the Generals and Admirals may enjoy it. But the best of them would be glad to be rid of it, knowing that it is inconsistent with the good conduct of our government and with the integrity and efficiency of the Chiefs of Staff.

But willy-nilly the responsibility has been thrust upon them. It has been thrust upon them because the Truman Administration is a very weak Administration, lacking confidence in itself, almost prostrate with its inferiority complex in the presence of Generals, aware of its mediocrity and inexperience and its political vulnerability. And so, when it has had difficult decisions to take, when it has had unpopular measures to propose to Congress, it has turned to the uniformed Staffs, to the big military personages—asking them to make the hard decisions and to sponsor them, to lend their prestige to these measures, in the public debate.

THIS HAS ENCOURAGED the opposition party to find military personages of its own to lend glamor and prestige to the opposition. Here is the most unattractive aspect of the MacArthur affair; we now see the beginnings of an altogether intolerable thing in a republic—namely, a schism within the armed forces between the Generals of the Democratic party and the Generals of the Republican party.

Military or Political?

By Raymond Moley

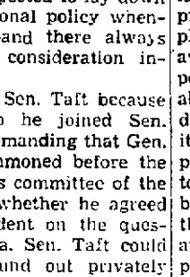
NOT the least of the confusing issues now placed before the public is the cloudy distinction between military and political or diplomatic policies. The State Department, skilled as it is in dialectic and double talk, will make much of this confusion. The public, however, will do well to realize that the distinction is not so clear as the principals in their debate say it is.

General MacArthur holds the position that, since his job in Korea was to win the war with expedition and a minimum of loss, military considerations require that bases in Manchuria should be bombed, China should be blockaded, Chiang Kai-shek should be turned loose, and Formosa should be held in friendly hands.



MOLEY

With this, the State Department has disagreed. Apparently it believes that to bomb Manchuria would make likely the entrance of the Soviet into the war, that to blockade Chinese ports would offend our ally Great Britain, that to release Chiang would be ineffective, and that Formosa is not essential in the long run to American defenses in the Pacific.

Thus, all these issues are a mixture of military and political evaluations.

TAKE THE CASE of Formosa as an example. It was originally a determination of the secretary of state, William H. Seward, 80-odd years ago, that the United States should hold a defense line far into the Pacific. It was a diplomatic decision that Hawaii be annexed. And it was decided by the highest civil authority that the Philippines be partly taken at that moment to prevent too much German influence in the Pacific.

But these decisions, as well as a decision about the future of Formosa, involved and now involve a military issue of the highest order. Could we hold the line in the western Pacific without Formosa? MacArthur says no.

Marion County History Brevities

Railroads gave Marion the go-by for many years after they were introduced in Ohio. Bucyrus, Kenton, Delaware and Mansfield had received an impetus from rail long before Marion had any hope of hearing the steam whistle. But when once the county was crossed by the old B and I, others soon followed. Railroads banished the old style of covered wagons, which had slowly and painfully crossed over long distances.

The Crime Probe "Summer Run"

The U. S. Senate has voted to continue the Kefauver Crime Committee, but only for a four-month run, May through August. This is the first hint that anybody thought the committee's video show could get anywhere as a summer theater replacement. Maybe the idea is to determine just how strong a television rival to big-league baseball can be.

PHILLIPS

If we were an underworld member we would consider the four-month extension a victory for our side. The original proposal was to give the committee until next January to continue its splendid performance, and the decision to settle for a summer run is the best possible news for racketeers, gangsters, mobsters, corrupt politicians and conniving lawyers. In the first place, by the time the committee gets into its backswing, the public will be knee deep in the vacation season. The crime committee probably will fast, too, unless allowed to conduct its hearings in bathing trunks at the seaside. (Which might be a good idea. It would be novel to see some Costello or Erickson paddling into the picture by canoe and submitting a letter from a lifeguard stating that he was too sunburned to testify.)

* * *

Those lawyers for the racketeers showed pretty good form in the previous telecasts, but we would like to see how good they are at reading a prepared statement via a surfboard. The answer "I refuse to answer on the ground it might tend to spoil my summer" at least would be something new.

* * *

The Crime Committee, whose inquiry ended with plenty of rackets untouched, would have been given the green light until 1952 if it had not been for the odd fact that Estes Kefauver, its chairman, opposed any extension. Estes believes the public has been sufficiently aroused but he is the most mistaken prober in history. The public forgets fast and needs at least eight months more diligent digging and dramatic exposured to give it the sordid scene in full color. The Kefauver video hearings came to a close on a disturbing note, with several top witnesses leering at the committee and showing special defiance. "Can these guys get away with it like that?" was the question that went up in countless homes. And it will take more than a summer's work by the crime committee to supply a convincing answer, unless it puts on a video telecast before the public mind is centered on heat waves, the sufferings of the polar bears in the zoo and the big-league pitching averages.

* * *

Two Kefauver committee members favored a watch-dog committee to keep up public interest. So did a committee of the American Bar Association. Mobsters would like nothing better. They've been watched for years without meeting any marked interference. To do anything with the toughies without the power of subpena and the authority of a Senate Committee to shoot the works is like hunting polecats by quorum. You might as well try to eradicate vermin with a Chautauqua salute.

* * *

We deplore the Senate four-month routine as inadequate, too restricted and tending to encourage and cheer the racketeers of America. Senator Kefauver himself told the video audience two-thirds of the racketeering had been untouched. If it took a year to expose one-third, what chance is there of bringing to light the other two-thirds against the competition of the summer outing, the double-header, the bathing-beauty pageants, the hot-dog roasts and the general June-July-August inertia?

* * *

As a matter of fact we doubt that even Senator Tobey can be depended on for his best sense of indignation with the temperature in the nineties, the breeze humid and not a dry forehead in the joint.

"Mr. DiSalle said that politics plays no part whatever in any appointments to the OPS."—news item. Not rolling back candor, are ya, Mike?

U.N. is now considering a fourteen-county commission to run the war in Korea. If this doesn't shake the morale of the fighting men nothing will. Imagine waiting for a fourteen-man debate in U.N. to end before deciding whether to attack or retreat!

In racing circles the question is not who dropped the "r" from "Repetoire" but what knocked the "L" out of Uncle Miltie.

Treatment of Toxemia in Pregnancy

Pregnancy brings with it many physical changes, among them a difference in the composition of the blood, which shows an entirely different picture from that of the non-pregnant woman.

There is, for instance, a gradual increase in the total volume of blood as well as of its fluid part until, during the last three months, it is 25 percent above normal. The increase of fluid, however, is greater than the increase in the number of red cells. Hence, there is an apparent anemia or insufficiency of red cells and coloring matter in the blood of the pregnant woman. There is a decided tendency for this apparent anemia to become real unless it is carefully watched.

One of the serious effects of pregnancy is toxemia, in which there is edema or collection of fluid in the tissues, increase in blood pressure, and excretion of albumin in the urine.

It has been shown that toxemia of pregnancy, with edema and high blood pressure, occurs more often in women who are anemic during pregnancy than in those who are normal. For these reasons, it is thought that anemia may set the stage for the development of toxemia, although it is not an actual cause for it. It is important, therefore, that anemia of pregnancy be recognized early by an examination of the blood, and that it be treated adequately.

The usual treatment consists in the use of a preparation containing iron. Some iron preparations have the drawback that they are poorly absorbed or taken up by the bowel. They also may cause certain stomach and bowel upsets, such as sickness at the stomach, vomiting, and constipation.

In recent years, a preparation of iron combined with molybdenum, one of the chemical elements, has been employed. It would appear that the anemia of pregnancy responds quickly to treatment with this preparation in a greater percentage of cases than the other iron-containing drugs. Reactions and stomach and bowel upsets occur but rarely. The preparation is given to the patient several times a day after meals. When used throughout pregnancy, it is found that the amount of coloring in the blood is materially higher than in those not treated. The increase is usually noted within two weeks of the onset of treatment.

Marion Garden Center Notes

PLANTS ON OLD WOOD

An unusual idea for growing small plants indoors is to use a mossy gnarled piece of wood for the container. Place on an attractive metal or pottery tray, they'll be suitable for a prominent place in your home.

A hike through the woods will usually turn up suitable pieces of wood. Some plants can gather enough food from the wood to grow but most will do best in cracks and knotholes with some soil for the roots. There are many small plants which can be used, among them; various sedums, mosses, English ivy, small ferns, crassula, dracaena, baby tears, wandering Jew, and even grass grows from seed sprinkled in the cracks.

You will get a more attractive effect if you use some plants with tinges of red, yellow or other color in leaves and stems.

There are few tricks to growing plants in wood. Spread the roots along the crevices or holes and press a good soil over them. Water by spraying or submerging the log in a pan of water every few days. The wood absorbs water and gives it up slowly to the plants and soil.

2 Stable Hands Held In Beulah Park Fire

COLUMBUS, O., April 30 — (AP) — Deputy sheriffs today questioned two stable hands about an early morning fire yesterday which killed 25 thoroughbred race horses and one stable pony at nearby Beulah Park race track.

They booked Robert Gambill and Henry Lee Grant, both 22, on open charges. Firemen indicated that a cigarette may have caused the fire. Three of the 25 horses were burned so severely they had to be destroyed.

Although the flash fire leveled a 36-stall barn it will not affect Beulah Park's scheduled opening next Saturday, said O. K. Keller, track superintendent.

The horses that died in the fire were valued at about $50,000. The barn and equipment were valued at about $11,000.

25th Anniversary Observed By Shakespeare Study Club

THE 25th anniversary of the organization of the Shakespeare Study Club of Marion was celebrated Thursday when members were joined by guests for a program and tea at Marion Country Club.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Mrs. Harold E. Andrews, professor of English at Ashland College and well known throughout the state for her Bible talks. Mrs. Andrews gave a dramatic reading of "Macbeth." She was introduced by Mrs. Clyde Wogan, program chairman.

On display for the occasion was a framed portrait of Shakespeare, a reproduction of the title page of the first folio, the only authentic portrait of the bard. The portrait was a gift from members of the Shakespeare Study Club to the Marion Public Library on the observance of the 363rd anniversary of the birth of Shakespeare. It was loaned to the club for its anniversary celebration. Daffodils, the club flowers, provided a decorative note.

MRS. HAROLD E. ANDREWS

Mrs. Morris was vice president of the Shakespeare Association of America and editor of the Shakespeare Bulletin, published in New York City. Under her guidance and inspiration, the Marion Club joined the national association. The same year, the local club was represented at the conference of Shakespeare Clubs of Ohio held in Lakeside.
